"NO USE TO CRY" DECLARES GIRL HELD IN MURDER

Clara Skarin Winborn Gives Views on Wide List of Subjects.

Seattle police declare, is a sweet heart of Mrs. Winborn.

At Seattle Mrs. Winborn was employed as a telephone operator. She occupied a room in Hochbrunn's home five months before Hochbrunn was killed. Mrs. Winborn is said to have been employed at one time as Hochbrunn's housekeeper. After the death of Mrs. Winborn's mother, Mrs. Winborn, it is said, became Hochbrunn's unofficial ward.

Three years ago when Mrs. Winborn was Miss Clara Skarin, she was one of the chief figures in another tragedy. Winborn's first wife committed suicide. She is said to have been prompted to take her own life because of jealousy of Miss Skarin. Just before killing herself she is said to have fired a shot at Miss Skarin. Miss Skarin was wounded and Miss Skarin's mother, who was near at the time, was killed.

In 1919 Miss Skarin is reported to have married Robert Winborn, husband of the woman who had committed suicide. It was a death-bed marriage. Winborn dying a short time later of pneumonia.

A brother of Hochbrunn, Henry Hochbrunn, lives at 5161 Miles avenue, this city. A sister lives in San Francisco.

At the time Hochbrunn's body was discovered, it was established by Captain of Detectives Charles Tennant of the Seattle police department, that Mrs. Winborn had been staying at the Doran hotel when San Francisco detectives went there to look for her they found she had just left the hotel. It was not necessary for the newspaper photographers to tell Mrs. Winborn to look pleasant while they took her picture today. She has done nothing but smile in the most pleasant manner possible ever since her arrest.

When the pictures were being taken the occasion was enlivened by a string of badinage of rapid repartees.

She was asked to turn to one side and then to the other different views.

"All right," she acquiesced. "Do you want me to turn my back, too?"

"Better make a few extra copies," she advised, with a laugh. "And give me some, too. I might be able to use them—next time."

She was obviously distressed over the eternal feminine plaint of "nothing to wear."

"You should give me time to change my clothes," she said. "You

Quartet Confess Ambuscade Plot

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 4.—Seth W. Poston, Albert Johns, Charles Moak and Frank A. Miller, who declared themselves to be striking railroad shopmen, last night confessed, according to a police announcement, that they were implicated in the ambuscade which resulted in the fatal wounding yesterday of Charles H. Lanier, non-union Frisco shop worker, but declared it was not their intention to kill Lanier and that the ambush was arranged merely to frighten Clarence B. Stevens, a shop foreman, one of two other men in the automobile with Lanier when he was killed.

now stationed and living. You'll never know what a sensation that was!

I selected the name of Betty Parrish when I left Seattle. It came to me like a flash, and it stuck.

If I could arrange it I should like to go over to the electric company where I was employed and straighten up the books. The manager is a nice man, and will be lost without me. No one knows "what's what" as far as those books are concerned, except myself. If I am not allowed to go to the store I hope they will bring the books here to the prison and permit me to work on them.

OAKLAND DATE ON FIFTIETH BIRTHDAY. I am still single, but I have met a wonderful lot of nice friends in Oakland—and you can never tell what might happen. I am coming back to Oakland. I have a hunch I am coming back. I have to be back here on my fiftieth birthday because I have a date.

I know who recognized me and told the police. It was a woman. I tell you all women are cats. If they would mind their own business the world would be a whole lot better off.

I have made a great many friends here, and I am sure this will not cause them to break their friendship with me.

It was very mean of Captain Petersen to arrest me on Saturday night. I had a date to go for a hike in Muir Woods.

I have been asked if it caused me any shock or grief when I read in the papers of the murder and the finding of the body. At the same time it was intimated that I, Hochbrunn, had been very kind to take care of me as his ward. In reply to this I wish to say I never knew him to do a kind act in his life. And I have known him since I was 14 years old.

When I was interviewed today I had to appear in my working clothes. I am sorry, but I hope to be better garbed in my voodoo upstairs later on.

I hope the newspapers do not

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—Sixty gallons of whisky, secured by a special federal court order, were hurried to Jackson today, where 47 miners are entombed, by two powerful automobiles under police escort. It is to be rationed to the miners who are battling desperately underground to rescue their imprisoned comrades.

The Amador County Red Cross sent a plea to Police Commissioner Theodore Roche for the liquor, stating that all in Amador county had been used in spurring on the rescue workers.

Roche obtained an order from Federal Judge Farrington for sixty gallons confiscated by prohibition agents.

send any "sob sisters" to interview me. I will do no good, because I am not going to do any sobbing. It takes a man to do justice to a story of this kind.

FOXY GRANDMA POLICE DISLIKED. I trust that when they send an officer down from Seattle to take me back, they don't send some old "foxy grandma" after me. I do detest the "foxy grandma" type of man in policeman's clothes.

As to my feelings, I am absolutely happy and untroubled. What has happened to me in the past forty-eight hours, is merely a change from my every-day life to life in prison, and, as I said before I have had nearly a year to think this thing over, and I have decided to make the best of it.

prize held forth by America to the whole world, signified by the upraised torch of light, toward which the eyes of the oppressed have turned from every corner of the earth should be destroyed now by the power of wealth, the mite of mere investment, at the behest of dividends and interest, is unthinkable. The people of America are made of the stuff that does not bow the knee to tyrants, in whatever garb they come.

Labor has not sought this conflict. It has been labor's hope and is labor's hope that the day may come speedily when it may be possible to give full effort to the tasks of production, perfecting relations of good will, working in co-operation with management unburdened by Wall Street masters to the end that there may be a greater volume of production with which to enrich our people and enlarge the horizon of their lives.

Labor hopes for the great day of peace and goodwill, but if it must stand in the trenches to preserve the freedom that alone can lead to the day of peace and good will, then it will stand as its forebears have stood with credit to the cause.

GOVERNMENT IGNORES LOOSE COMMENT.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The government is paying no attention to loose and irresponsible conversation about the injunction procured in Chicago against the striking shopmen, Attorney General Daugherty said in a telegram to the New York Herald. That newspaper invited him yesterday to reply to charges that lawful acts are prohibited by the injunction and that it is in violation of the Clayton act. Daugherty sent this message:

"In reply to your telegram you may say that the government's answer to all these questions will in due time be made in open court, if it is necessary and if the government in the meantime will pay no attention to loose and irresponsible conversation on the part of the people who may themselves yet be brought into court."

DAVIS SCORES GARY WRECK PLOT.

MOOSEHART, Ill., Sept. 4.—(By International News Service) No law can be made too severe and no gibbet be built too high for those who execute such dastardly deeds of violence as the deliberate wrecking of a train at Gary, Ind., a few days ago, Secretary of Labor Davis declared here today in a Labor Day address.

"Crimes like this are a disgrace to America," the secretary said. "No punishment can be too severe for men who deliberately and with calculated malice set out to destroy property and to kill their fellow men without warning, and by stealth. Equally guilty are those who plan or countenance or condone such horrors. All of the power of law and order in America must be extended to the utmost to exterminate the class of men who hark back to the dark ages of their disregard of property and human life."

"It conceives its duty to be that of an administrator of statute laws," said Dr. Work, "and to compel an honest day's work for a legally stipulated wage."

It intends, he added, to protect its loyal workers "from any whose theory is that 'the government owes them a living,' from 'those who are willing to steal from their employers through sabotage of time—work and more wages—and to protect them from those who would rob the treasury of the people by padding the payroll with unnecessary employees.'"

EMPLOYEES LAUDED FOR WORK IN STRIKE.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 4.—The National Association of Supervisory Postoffice Employees, in session here, was extended the postal administration's "continued appreciation of your labors," particularly in the railroad strike situation, in a Labor Day address today by W. Irving Glover, third assistant postmaster general.

"In the trouble which has been existing recently between the railroads and certain of their employees," he said, "the postoffice department has been caused considerable annoyance, but, with the able administration of the functions of so many of you supervisory officials, little difficulty or delay has resulted in the handling of the mails."

U. S. STRIKEBREAKER, UNION HEAD SAYS.

CARBONDALE, Ill., Sept. 4.—Thousands of coal miners from Williamson and Johnson counties celebrated Labor Day here with a parade and picnic, and heard John B. Frey of Cincinnati, an executive of the Iron Moulders' Union, and editor of the Iron Moulders' Journal, declare the United States government "the greatest strikebreaking agency in the country" because of the sweeping temporary injunction obtained at Chicago.

A feature of the parade was a float containing 15 small boys from Herrin, bearing a huge sign reading, "When our fathers are gone we will take their places."

BROTHERHOOD CHIEF PLEADS FOR PEACE. CLEVELAND, Sept. 4.—"Labor must lead humanity out of the morass of greed and misery into the fairer day of the brotherhood of man," declared Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, in his Labor Day address today. "In three brief words labor aspires the highest and holiest aspirations of mankind—peace, liberty and justice," he said.

"This is the beacon which has summoned us to the struggle against selfishness, greed and lust for power."

"Let me ask you to consecrate yourselves anew to a realization of these eternal principles. Proclaim them in conversation with your neighbors. Peace we must have, else civilization will perish. Liberty we must have, else life is futile. Justice we must have, else neither social peace nor liberty is possible."

"In loyal devotion to labor's supreme ideals, let us on this Labor Day dedicate anew all that we have and are to their realization, cost what it may in strife and sacrifice."

SHELL SHOCK AS WAR RESULT IS HELD FALLACY

British War Office Committee Finds Cases Unbased on Facts Available.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—If Great Britain should have the misfortune to be engaged in another big war it is false to predict that no cases of "shell shock" will appear among her list of casualties. The first recommendation of the war office committee on shell shock, whose report has just been published, is that the term should be cut out of the official language.

"War neurosis" is considered to be the best general term for "shell shock" because it occurred to patients who had never been within hearing of a shellburst. "It is no surprise to find that the general lay conception of the term was very loose and ill-informed," the committee states. "There is such anxious solicitude during the war to get on to understand and such was the appeal of the term 'shell shock' that this class of case excited more general interest and sympathy than any other, so that it became a most desirable complaint from which to suffer."

No case of psycho-neurosis or of mental breakdown even when attributed to a shell explosion, should be classified as a battle casualty any more than sickness or disease.

In many cases, say the committee, "it is extremely difficult to distinguish cowardice from neurosis since in both fear is the chief causal factor."

Colonel Stubbs, D. S. O., expressed the opinion that efforts should be made to get rid of the idea especially prevalent among young soldiers that it was disgraceful to feel scared when in action. "I do not know but I think I was in an awful funk the whole time," he told the committee. "I think most people were. If the young soldier were to go on to understand that everybody is very much afraid and that it is a natural condition to be in but he should overcome it and if he were told also about the effect of shells and that it was up to him to control himself, I think it would have some effect."

Only a brave man will voluntarily acknowledge that he was very much frightened during the war.

Rate war stirs interior China.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 4.—Two thousand miles from tidewater in the far upper reaches of the Yangtze River where only steamers of special construction may venture, a freight rate war was fought out in the early summer months and ended with a general agreement by American, English, French, Japanese and Chinese interests that operate vessels in these treacherous waters. Then the agreement was broken and the rate war was resumed.

The Masterful William

TODAY'S SHORT STORY by Ad Schuster

WHEN it is considered that beside his mother, three aunts and a grandmother had their hands in on Willie Boone's upbringing, a number of things may be explained and excused. Despite the restrictions which hedged him in he developed a full set of muscles, a square jaw and an immense sense of superiority.

Out of college—where he had had a chance, at last, to assert himself among his fellows—Willie returned as William and entered the household of admiring women as a lord and master. He was waited upon and encouraged in the belief that he was big, strong and wise.

Whether William's light opinion of women's dependence was to blame or his air of conquering hero, it is true the resplendent young man made but little visible impression on the young womanhood of the place. Each day he rowed vigorously out into the lake, fished swam and took long walks. These girls who waded in the water near the shore played croquet and worked embroidery were glad to look at him, but weak and helpless.

A month at a summer resort may be a long time, even for a young man fond of exercise. William Boone found himself wishing he had not been so successful in his conquests. There was Dolly Ashton, for instance, the girl whose eyes were always laughing.

A week William spent trying to win the attention of Dolly, who sat at the same table in the hotel and with whom he had many opportunities for snatches of conversation.

"But, Mr. Boone," Dolly replied when he had asked her to take one of the longer walks. "It would be really quite arduous and you know, you said yourself women are so dependent. No, really I think I shall do my tating today."

William loved to the center of the lake shipped his oars carefully and gave himself to disconsolate thoughts. Sometimes he said to himself, "they can be stubborn too." The air was still and sultry as it is before a storm. William fell asleep.

The motion of the boat awakened him. There were whitecaps now and a stiff wind came out of an angry sky. The young man reached for his oars and found them gone. It was too fat to swim in those waves. William groaned. He would have to sit there like a booby and yell for help. No, here was someone coming.

FIRE SWEEPS TOWN. LOGAN, W. Va., Sept. 4.—A portion of Logan's business district was destroyed by fire yesterday. The loss is estimated at more than $500,000. The fire started from an undiscovered cause in a billiard hall.

COZY AFTERNOONS AT EMBROIDERY

"I just got the prettiest luncheon set and I am going to embroider it myself. It is lovely. Four napkins, too. I want to show it to you."

"I'd love to see it. They do have such pretty things to embroider now-a-days I want to get started on something of that sort myself soon."

"Why don't you? Then we can spend several afternoons a week together doing fancy work. Don't you find that you can do more when you are with some one else I do."

"Yes, you're right. I would love to do that. My only trouble is that I just can't afford to buy any thing to work on right now. I must have a fall hat and suit very soon and I must save the money for that before I can get another thing I hope I won't have to wait too long."

"Oh my dear, why don't you buy your clothes at Cherry's, 515 13th street, and make monthly payments? They have some lovely new fall styles in coats and dresses. They allow one to make such satisfactory arrangements for payment."

Cherry's store for men is at 525 13th street.—Advertisement.

Are You Human?

A little baby. A little child. Don't they appeal to you? Doesn't your heart yearn to pick them up, to cuddle them close to you, to shield them from all harm? sure it does else you're not human. Being human you love them. Their very helplessness makes you reach out in all your strength to aid them. In health there's no flower so beautiful. In illness there's no night so black.

Save them then. Use every precaution. Take no chance. When sickness comes, as sickness will, remember it's just a baby, just a child and if the Physician isn't at hand don't try some remedy that you may have around the house for your own use.

Fletcher's Castoria was made especially for babies' ills and you can use it with perfect safety as any doctor will tell you. Keep it in the house.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Do the People Know? Do you know why you are asked to call for Fletcher's Castoria when you want a child's remedy? why you must insist on Fletcher's?

For years we have been explaining how the popularity of Fletcher's Castoria has brought out innumerable imitations, substitutes and counterfeits.

To protect the babies: to shield the homes and in defense of generations to come we appeal to the better judgment of parents to insist on having Fletcher's Castoria when in need of a child's medicine. And remember above all things that a child's medicine is made for children—a medicine prepared for grown-ups is not interchangeable. A baby's food for a baby. And a baby's medicine is just as essential for the baby.

The Castoria Recipe (it's on every wrapper) has been prepared by the same hands in the same manner for so many years that the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and perfection in the product are synonymous.

RATE WAR STIRS INTERIOR CHINA

SHANGHAI, Sept. 4.—Two thousand miles from tidewater in the far upper reaches of the Yangtze River where only steamers of special construction may venture, a freight rate war was fought out in the early summer months and ended with a general agreement by American, English, French, Japanese and Chinese interests that operate vessels in these treacherous waters. Then the agreement was broken and the rate war was resumed.

The slashing of rates developed when a considerable number of new vessels were put into service between Chongking and Ichang. When the rate war opened fourteen steamers were actively competing for business exclusive of Standard Oil and Asiatic Petroleum boats plying these waters. The famed gorges of the Yangtze, one of the greatest scenic districts of China, are located in this stretch of white water.

It was over this route that the rich products of China's most populous province Szechuen are brought out. When the rate war was resumed in July ordinary cargo was being shipped on steamers more cheaply than the Chinese junks which are drawn through the rapids by hundreds of coolies on stump lines, could afford to handle it.

Bandits Hold Up Pool Room Card Players

VISALIA, Sept. 4.—Three masked bandits held up twelve men in a pool hall at Visalia, 18 miles north of here, yesterday morning and fled with approximately $400, according to advices received here by Sheriff Court Smith, who, with deputies, immediately went to the scene.

The men were said to have been playing cards in the back room of the pool hall after closing hours when the bandits suddenly appeared and confronted them with guns.

Whale Spouts For Vancouver Bathers

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 4.—A whale, estimated by startled bathers to have been thirty feet long, appeared in the English bay yesterday within a thousand yards of the residential district of the city and just off one of the bathing beaches. It is said to have spouted bravely for the entertainment of occupants of pleasure and fishing craft in the bay before it put to sea, leaving a distinct swell, on which the boats hastily rolled to shore.

PROFESSOR CALLS DEALER FATHER OF WIFE'S CHILD

Wealthy Merchant Declares
Charge of Law Instructor
Based on Blackmail.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 4.—Harry Poulin, wealthy clothing merchant, is free today after his arrest on charges made by Prof. John T. Tiernan, of the law school at the University of Notre Dame, who accused Poulin of being the father of a child born to Mrs. Tiernan in November, 1921.

Prof. Tiernan announced a fight to a finish to force the merchant to acknowledge and support the child. Poulin denied the charge and accused the professor of blackmail.

"I am innocent of the slanderous charges," Poulin, who is the father of two children, declared. "This is a case of blackmail which has been in progress for eight months. As soon as the child was born Tiernan approached me with a demand for money with which to pay the medical fees in connection with the birth of Mrs. Tiernan's child.

"This I naturally refused to do, for the reason that I am not the father. Later, Tiernan, through an attorney, offered to settle the case on payment of a lump sum, offering then to drop the matter without forcing me to make any admission. I certainly will fight."

"Harry Poulin was my trusted friend," said Professor Tiernan, who, like Poulin, is the father of two children. "The partook of my hospitality and enjoyed my confidence. He inveigled my wife originally by telling her that his wife was suffering from tuberculosis and that she would soon die, leaving him free to marry. On these assurances that he would do so she yielded to him.

"The case is not only established by Poulin's confession to me, but by the testimony of Poulin's neighbors, who saw these things through the window. There will be nothing suppressed. Before I consented to this proceeding I sought the advice of the church, and I was assured that my conduct in proceeding this way was entirely proper, since every appeal to Poulin's sense of moral obligation failed to find an answer."

Poulin, in answer to Professor Tiernan, charged that his arrest was due to "the disordered state of the legal instructor's mind," citing the fact that Tiernan continued to live with his wife after he knew of the alleged misdeed.

"Two or three weeks ago Tiernan, through trickery, obtained the signature of his wife, then almost hysterical, to an affidavit charging me with being the father of the boy," Poulin declared.

Peggy Flits East, Chaplin to Return To Work; Latest Film Romance Denied

"Just Dear Friend," Says Famous Divorcee in Quieting Rumors.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—Peggy Joyce is going back to New York to make over her will and Charlie Chaplin is going back to work.

These are the latest developments in filmdom's most interesting friendship.

Again be it emphasized, there is nothing to it. No romance, you understand. They both swear it.

But they are very good friends. Since meeting Chaplin, Peggy's luminous eyes have rested on no other masculine companion. And every day she drives up to his studio and they go out to lunch together at Armstrong's, in Hollywood.

As for Charlie, he has recently occupied himself, according to rumor, with sweeping away the gallery of beauty from the walls of his study, and hanging in its place a large painting of Peggy.

Miss Joyce announced today she would go back to New York this week, but will return.

Chaplin, in the interval, is going to make a picture—his best.

Hollywood gossips are busy with stories of frequent visits of Peggy in her big car at the Chaplin studio, of luncheons at a fashion-

CHARLEY CHAPLIN, famous screen comedian, and PEGGY JOYCE, who are rumored to be in love, were seen together at a party at Santa Monica.

Hollywood Gossips Stirred Over Friendship Visits to Studio.

Monica with Peggy and Charley the chief attractions.

Marriage?
"Oh, no," Charley is just a dear friend," and Peggy laughs. At any rate the gossips say Chaplin appears to be taking up more of the time of the famous divorcee than any other man. Also, Peggy has announced that she is going to New York in a few days for the purpose of changing her will and this furnished another choice morsel for the wagging tongues.

MARINER, HOME, FINDS WIFE HAS DIED, NO MONEY

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—Returning home last night from a three months voyage to Alaska, Charles Carlson, master-at-arms of the U. S. Transport Buford, went to his home at 220 Eighth avenue and instead of finding his wife to welcome him, discovered rental signs in the window. Peering into the empty house, Carlson perceived that it was stripped of all its furniture, and shocked at this unexpected finding hastily inquired of neighbors as to what had happened to his wife. The neighbors advised him that his wife had died on August 3, and said that she was not insured.

Instantly known by anyone, the Public Administrator had taken charge of her effects. This morning Carlson appeared at the coroner's office and told the story to Mrs. Jane Walsh, chief deputy coroner. At the time of the woman's death there were some little investigation into the circumstances, but the death finally was attributed to natural causes. When her effects were examined by the public administrator it was found that she had two one hundred dollar Liberty bonds and a receipt for $500 in a safe deposit box, which showed that payment on a house she had contracted to purchase. Carlson told Mrs. Walsh that when he left on the voyage June 27 his wife had diamond rings worth $3000, $2000 in money and four one hundred dollar Liberty bonds. He said they were married in La Juana in August of 1920.

Woolwine "Warned" Big Still Building

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—Mystery surrounded a "warning" to District Attorney Woolwine, Democratic candidate for governor, which appeared as an advertisement in a newspaper, here today. The advertisement, labeled "Warning No. 1," and addressed to Woolwine, informed him that a "$40,000 still is being built in a certain well-known bottling plant."

"Either an attempt to discredit Woolwine by a political move, or a publicity stunt," was the comment at his offices.

One Dies, Man Hurt in Crash of Autos

He was arrested when liquor was found near the scene of the accident.

Esau Up to Date Would Sell Self To Evade 'Work'

MERIDAN, Miss., Sept. 4.—Confined in the county jail here for want of sufficient funds to pay the cost of court in a misdemeanor case which was compromised, M. W. # "Rush Hours"

In all lines of business patronage is irregular. Street cars, stores, banks and restaurants have their "rush hours" when some delays in service are unavoidable. The public, with the situation before its eyes, good naturedly accepts a degree of inconvenience.

There are "rush hours" in a telephone exchange. With business service the "loads" of telephone traffic are determined by commercial activities, banking hours, etc.—the "load" of the residence telephone varies with household and social needs.

The demands upon the telephone operator and a complicated mechanical equipment cannot be seen, but telephone traffic varies in every hour of every day according to the individual desires of thousands of patrons.

If there should be at times a delay in answering your call, remember that trained young women with nimble fingers are doing their best to serve you, and that at the moment there may be a "rush" of telephone traffic.

The exercise of patience and consideration will mean better service.

STATE'S NEXT LEGISLATURE IS NOT 'BONE DRY'

Five Women Gain Seats in Assembly; One Labor
Leader Wins.

By M. D. TRACY,
United Press Staff Correspondent.
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—California has a "dry" but not "bone dry" legislature in which the "progressive movement" may have a little better of the "reactionaries" and in which labor has held its own.

Such were the indications of a check completed today by the United Press, covering the result of the assembly and senatorial fights in Tuesday's primaries in all districts of the state.

In most instances Tuesday's election determined who would be seated in the 1923 legislature.

Five women probably will have membership in the assembly. No women were chosen for the Senate.

Twenty-seven new assembly members and eight senators will be at Sacramento for the 1923 session, results indicated.

A check of likely winners in the senatorial races showed the Senate will have 24 members whom the drys claim as favoring them and 15 whom the drs admit are "wet." One is classed as uncertain.

In the assembly, 45 members are claimed to be dry and 30 are classed by dry leaders as "wet." Five were marked up as uncertain.

LABOR LOSES NOTHING.

Reviewing the legislature's membership from the viewpoint of the labor movement, it was indicated that labor lost nothing and gained only a little in the primaries.

In the Senate there will be 21 members whom labor leaders class as "sympathetic" with their movement. Twelve are said to have distinct anti-labor records. Seven were classed as uncertain.

In the assembly 25 members were expected to prove pro-labor, leaders said, 14 were definitely placed in the anti-labor column, and 31 could not be checked, leaving the situation somewhat in doubt.

Labor will have an outstanding leader in the 1923 session in the person of Dan Murphy, former president of the State Federation of Labor, who will be a member of the San Francisco senatorial delegation.

GILFORD, Eng.—Mr. Justice Horridge declared in court here today that the San Francisco men jurors who would convict business men, because the jurors followed the same practices.

Busy towns are like busy people—they mean to be friendly but they haven't time to visit unless they're specially invited.

Realizing this, Oakland has set aside the week of September 11 to 16, inclusive, as "Welcome to Oakland Week," and invited the nearby cities and towns to be her guests. And, from every indication, they are all coming to get acquainted with their biggest and friendliest neighbor-city.

There are many reasons for this week of open-house. Regardless of city and county lines, the interests of the Eastbay communities are one. Their futures are bound together because of geographical ties that none can sever.

The farming communities and the smaller cities are benefited by their nearness to Oakland. She provides a natural outlet for their produce — a convenient point at which to purchase articles not to be had at home.

Oakland in turn is benefited by having these substantial municipalities and prosperous agricultural districts as near neighbors. She appreciates the responsibility of supplying their wants.

GET ACQUAINTED DAYS WILL START NEXT MONDAY

Many Interesting Features Planned for Welcome to Oakland Week.

Announcement of the Seven Get Acquainted Days which are to feature the Welcome to Oakland Week starting next Monday was made yesterday. The days and their designations follow:

Monday, September 11, "Welcome Day."
Tuesday, September 12, "Newcomers' Day."
Wednesday, Sept. 13, "Necessities Day."
Thursday, September 14, "Men's Day."
Friday, Sept. 15, "Mothers and Children's Day."
Saturday, September 16, "Everybody's Day."

In this manner the committee feels that the varied commercial resources of the Eastbay district may be best brought to the attention of the Oakland residents and the visitors who are to come from the adjoining cities and towns.

HIGH MERCHANDISE DISPLAY.
Furnishing the background for the days will be a monster display of merchandise. From all parts of the globe consignments of merchandise for the event are pouring in. The shipments are arriving by water and rail. In many instances the merchants began to prepare for the event months ago. Buyers from the stores making their regular trips to New York and Europe were told to specialize in the best that could be obtained, and to secure sufficient quantities to take care of an unprecedented demand.

Many interesting features incident to the development of Oakland as the shopping center of the Pacific Coast are coming to the surface as business houses are arranging to make their displays.

To many people the enormous growth of the greeting card business in the Eastbay district, and the fact that the engraved greeting card originated in Oakland, will come as a surprise.

ORIGINATED IN OAKLAND.
An enterprising Oakland stationer learning of the vogue of greeting cards in England decided to try out the idea in Oakland. At that time there was not a greeting card published on the Pacific Coast. So, improving on the English cards which were printed, the Oakland stationer decided to produce an engraved greeting card, and making dies by hand, 400 cards were run off. The style and richness of the design immediately caught the fancy of the public, and the following season 3000 cards were made. Each season witnessed the development of the idea, until last year over 110,000 greeting cards were sold.

After the Oakland experiment, manufacturers have taken up the idea, and now it has been expanded to include birthday greetings, congratulations and a thousand and one reasonable messages.

WILL SHOW DEVELOPMENT.
This stationer promises to contribute one of the most interesting displays of the week, and will show the development of the greeting card business through the exhibition of the latest greeting card made on the Pacific Coast, and the subsequent ones indicating the improvement from year to year.

Rehearsals were held yesterday of the Welcome to Oakland song which is to be featured in the Oakland theaters this week and next. Jack Joy, composer of the music, and E. L. Perry conducted the rehearsals.

A final social rally of the hundred odd business men who are back of the Welcome Week will take place at the Hotel Oakland tomorrow evening. A smoker has been arranged and a program of surprises is promised.

How Do You Feel Today?

Conducted by The Public Health Center of Alameda County

"ALL WORK AND NO PLAY."
It is well to play once in a while and many of us should play more frequently than we do. If you are one of the folks who cannot relax and play at least seek a change of work.

"Burning the candle at both ends" is a game few people can play. There are not many men who can work all day, go home tired, and work again long into the night without paying heavily for it. It may be done if the night work is a new kind of work which they particularly enjoy—then it becomes recreation.

Excessive fatigue in either mental or physical work we all know to be injurious to health. Overworking the muscles produces poisonous substances which lower resistance to disease and decrease our efficiency if the body does not eliminate them during rest. This means poor work, decreased earning power and perhaps a shortened working career. We know, too, that one may get just as tired working with his brains as with his hands.

What is play for one man may be work for another, but all should seek to play intelligently. A man who works with his brains should get his recreation, or re-building of his body from working or playing out-of-door, while those who work out-of-doors should spend their leisure time differently.

The way to make work serve health is to know HOW AND WHEN TO PLAY. Hard work does not hurt a healthy man or woman but too much work may do lots of harm.

U. S. MEMORIAL GIVEN BRAZIL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—A massive monument, known as "Friendship," an presented to Brazil by the United States Committee for Brazilian Memorial, will be dedicated shortly after the opening of the centennial exposition at Rio de Janeiro.

The statue, erected through donations by American business leaders interested in improving commercial relations between the United States and Brazil, measures 25 meters and 48 centimeters in height and resembles in design the statue of Liberty.

John L. Merrill, chairman of the memorial committee, who inaugurated the movement to present Brazil with a lasting memorial as "an expression of friendship on the part of the United States," received the approval of Secretary of States Hughes for it before public contributions were asked.

The selected design for the memorial consists of a colossal figure in bronze, symbolic of friendship, holding in her right hand a sprig of laurel, and supporting with her left hand the flags of Brazil and the United States intertwined with laurel and palm, indicative of prosperity and peace. The main figure is supported on an imposing pedestal of stone, enriched with bas-reliefs and at the base are four standing figures. There is inscribed a statement that the monument is the gift of the American people. Charles Keck of New York is the sculptor.

A site for the memorial was provided by the Brazilian government on the Avenida Presidente Wilson, near the harbor. The committee which arranged details in this country was formed to act for the American Chamber of Commerce in Brazil in securing nationwide support throughout the United States.

SCIENTISTS WILL VISIT AMERICA

TOKYO, Sept. 4.—The minister of education on behalf of the Japanese government has accepted an invitation from Dr. George E. Vincent, president of the Rockefeller Foundation of New York, to name and send a commission of Japanese medical scientists to visit the medical institutions of the United States and Canada as the guests of the Rockefeller Foundation.

The idea originated with Dr. Vincent, who was in the Far East some time ago in connection with the activities of the Rockefeller Foundation in China, and was prompted partly by the success that attended the visits to America of similar commissions from Great Britain, Brazil and Belgium.

The invitation, transmitted by Baron Shidehara, Japanese ambassador in Washington, suggested that the commission should consist of four or five men, well known as representatives of the important branches of medical science and of the principal medical universities and institutes of the country; that this commission would be the guests of the Rockefeller Foundation from the time it leaves Japan until it returns again to these shores; and that the spring of 1923 would be the most suitable time for this visit, which should last for about three months.

The minister of education, in accepting the invitation, expressed his approval of the suggestions and undertook to select a commission that could claim to be truly representative of Japanese medical science.

Natural Enemy of Beetle Now Sought

TOKYO, Sept. 4.—J. L. King, of the United States Department of Agriculture, in Japan searching for a natural enemy of a beetle accidentally introduced into the United States and which has proved very destructive, left early in August for Korea, where such an enemy has been discovered. King will study the specie in preparation for further work next year.

In 1923, a large number of the puparia will be shipped to New Jersey, where the beetle is doing much damage.

C. P. Clausen, an associate of King, is now in Hokkaido, carrying on similar work while another American entomologist, Dr. John Summers, also is in Japan searching for a parasite for the gypsy moth.

M. E. Deaconesses Rapidly Increases

The police have also been asked to assist in locating the automobile of Jack Burke of Canyon Inn. The machine was stolen Saturday night.

Auto Bandits Rob Grocer of $7000

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 4.—Two automobile bandits held up W. E. Parker, buyer for the Wright & Parker grocery, and robbed him of between $5000 and $7000 today. Parker had been collecting from some of the Wright & Parker stores. The bandits forced his car into the curb and seized the bag containing his money and escaped.

Jordan Will Speak At Placer's Reunion

Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan will be the principal speaker at the sixth annual reunion of old Placer countyites to be held at Mosswood Park next Sunday. Jordan, some 30 years ago, was taken very ill while county clerk of Alameda county, and he was sent to Auburn on a stretcher. He regained his health, but he never forgot Auburn, and now owns the place where he was nursed back to health. Last year there were 1500 people present at this reunion of the old residents of this once famous mining county, but devoted mostly to fruit growing. Editor W. A. Shepard of Auburn is president and Mrs. John Spencer of Oakland is secretary.

NATIONS' LEAGUE WORK REVIEWED BY LORD CECIL

Chilean Ambassador Edwards Chosen President At Assembly Meeting.

GENEVA, Sept. 4.—Augustine Edwards, Chilean Ambassador to England, was elected president of the third assembly of the League of Nations, which opened here today.

Representatives of forty-four countries took part in the deliberations. The following nations' delegations were absent: Honduras, Nicaragua, Salvador, Haiti, Argentina, Bolivia and Peru.

Lord Robert Cecil told the delegation that the protocol, establishing the league's international court of justice at The Hague, had been signed by thirty-four states. Thirteen of the countries have accepted the clause giving the court obligatory jurisdiction.

Thirty-three countries, Cecil pointed out, had signed the convention of the league for suppression of the white slave traffic.

The league, according to Lord Robert, has promoted peace among nations by allowing minorities of any nation to aid their grievances before the assembly. Action of minorities, he stated, had in the past been one of the most prolific causes of war.

The disarmament commission, in a report, recommended that another international conference be called for nations who did not attend the Washington arms parity, in order to make disarmament general in application.

The following was achieved by the league during the last year, according to the report of Cecil:

1. Establishment of the international court of justice at The Hague.
2. Settlement of the Upper Silesia dispute.
3. Securing of Serbia's evacuation of Albania.
4. Securing of thirty-three signatures to the international convention against the white slave traffic.
5. Preparing of the machinery for the protection of minorities in eleven states.
6. Participation in the technical work of the Geneva conference, and taking over the matter of reconstruction of Europe at the point where the latter left off.
7. Securing of a treaty providing sen and Ensign Leroy Hamlin, Thomas Thompson, Chapman, Earle, Hardin Durgan, Little, Harper and Huffman.

'Mother' Jones Ill, Unaware of Strike
WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—"Mother" Mary Jones, unofficial labor leader, especially in times of industrial strife, is critically ill at the home of friends here. The frailties of her 73 years, many of which were spent in strenuous activities in behalf of men and women engaged in strikes, recently were augmented as a result of her work in Colorado, according to attending physicians.
Inquiries instituted by those who missed the mention in reports of the railroad shopmen's strike of "Mother" Jones' activities in her usual capacity brought the information of her condition and the statement that she was not aware of the transportation walkout. It will be the first strike, "Mother" Jones' friends declared, in which she has not had an active part since she began taking interest in labor troubles as a school teacher in Chicago many years ago.

BRITISH EAGER TO LEARN CHARM OF RADIO WAVES

Broadcasting Stations Rapidly Preparing to Serve Public; Sets Demanded.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Old England is beginning to purchase radio telephone sets and "listen in" to British and Continental broadcasts.

Wireless telephony is becoming popular in private use, especially in Hull, where about 50 receiving sets are in operation.

Broadcasting stations in England are expected to be in full operation by the end of the month, and are sending out programs such as are now enjoyed in the United States. Within about two months, and twenty British electrical firms are manufacturing receiving apparatus.

Although both crystal and vacuum tube receivers, or "valve" sets, as the British call them, are used, the latter is the more popular, except for those who prefer only local entertainment. In Hull, two and three valve sets are preferred. More of these sets would be used, it is believed by the American Consul if they were available.

In England they are manufactured principally in London, Birmingham and Manchester, selling in Hull for about $51. A two-valve set connected with variable inductance and a variable condenser is found sufficient to receive the Hague concerts on 1070 meters, and the Eiffel Tower broadcasts on 2300 meters.

Most of the fans around Hull use double vertical aerials with a receiving length of 150 feet, including the "lead in," the British maximum for receiving.

Permission of the Postmaster General in London is necessary before setting up a receiving set and the license fee is $2.43. Oscillating valves are not permitted except in transmitting sets, and a few transmitting sets are used, the interest being centered on listening in at home.

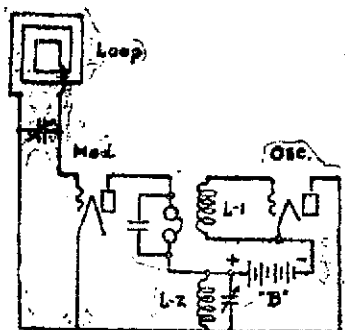

American manufacturers will find British purchasers most interested in compact, vacuum-tube sets, and a list of Hull electrical dealers has been sent to the Department of Commerce for consultation.

Fifteen Minutes of Radio Daily

Copyright by Edward N. Davis.
LESSON NO. 150.

Modulation Applied to Reception. (All rights reserved by United Feature Syndicate. Reproduction prohibited.)
In the reception of continuous wave signals it is common practice to employ the heterodyne principle in some form or other, such as the popular regenerative circuit. Most of these circuits require the use of a tube which acts as a detector at some point in the system, in the case of the single tube regenerative set the same tube acts as an amplifier and as a detector. The method described here consists of an application of the modulation principles, employed in transmitting circuits, to receiving circuits.

Here's Program For Inland and Bay Broadcasting

In the accompanying diagram, the incoming signals are impressed upon the grid of the modulator tube which in turn modulates the output of the oscillator tube. The circuit of the heterodyne tube must of course be adjusted so as to give beats when continuous wave signals are being received. It has been found experimentally that this circuit functions well without the use of a plate battery in the modulator tube plate circuit, although separate filament batteries may be employed. Filament battery connections are omitted for simplicity.

The operation of the circuit is such that the plate circuit of the modulator tube receives energy from the oscillating circuit of the second tube only when incoming oscillations are being impressed upon the grid of the first tube. It will be noted in the diagram that the first tube is connected in a way similar to the standard detector circuit except that there is no grid leak or grid condenser required, while the second tube circuit contains plate and grid coils in the usual way for coupling these circuits together so as to produce oscillations. The oscillations, thus produced, cause beats (audible in the telephone) when combined with oscillations of the incoming signal.

The telephone is inserted in the plate circuit of the modulator tube and is connected to a condenser having a capacity of about .008 microfarads in order to bypass the radio frequency current from the oscillator circuit.

The circuit shown above may be operated satisfactorily in connection with a loop aerial or may be used in connection with several stages of radio frequency amplification.

The inductance coils (L1) and (L2) in the diagram may be honeycomb or other similar coils so placed that they are in inductive relation to each other. (L2) being shunted with a variable condenser of the proper size to give the desired frequency.

The circuit illustrated functions very satisfactorily for the reception of continuous waves and in many cases where very weak signals are to be received, better results will be obtained by its use than by employing the usual form of regenerative receiver where the detector tube does not rectify very weak signals efficiently. The circuit shown is simple to operate, having only two controls, the variable condenser in shunt to inductance coil (L2) which adjusts the frequency of the locally generated oscillations.

Following is the daily radio broadcasting schedule for both inland and bay stations: (All stations not otherwise designated are local.)

SECRETARY DENBY INSPECTS WORKS AT MARE ISLAND

Plans for Constructing Large Naval Base Two Miles From Yard Told.

Having passed three extremely busy days in the San Francisco bay region, Secretary of the Navy Edwin Denby leaves today for Washington.

Following his inspection of the proposed naval base site at Alameda last Saturday, Secretary Denby yesterday inspected the Mare Island navy yard. The secretary was accompanied by Rear Admiral A. S. Halstead, commandant of the twelfth naval district, and other naval officers. He was entertained at luncheon by Rear Admiral J. S. McKean, commandant at the Mare Island yard.

Plans for constructing a large naval base about two miles from the yard were outlined by Captain L. M. Cox, public works officer at the yard, at a conference. The secretary also inspected several works now under construction, including a concrete replacement of the quay wall and the dike, which are being carried out under a $2,800,000 congressional appropriation.

First Wife Wants Share in Fortune Successor Offers

DRESSER JUNCTION, Wis., Sept. 4.—Charlotte Boch, first wife of a wealthy California mining man, waited today for Boch's second wife to come to Dresser Junction and offer her a part of her former husband's wealth.

"Of course I shall accept a portion of John's wealth. I think I am entitled to it," the little dressmaker declared. "I have had twenty years of loneliness. Twenty years of hard work."

John Boch left his wife in Chicago to seek his fortune in the Klondike more than a score of years ago. He was successful in his search for wealth, but did not return to Chicago. He met his second wife in San Francisco and quietly obtained a divorce from his first wife.

A short time ago Boch told his second wife the story of his early life and the second Mrs. Boch immediately left for Chicago to find the first Mrs. Boch.

Charlotte Boch saw the story of the search in the newspapers and got in touch with Mrs. Eleanor Boch.

Communists' Arrest Causes German Riot

BERLIN, Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press).—Rioting occurred in Charlottenburg, a suburb yesterday, after the arrest of a communist leader when bands of young communists attacked the guard of the police station in an endeavor to liberate him.

The fighting lasted an hour and the rioters only dispersed upon the approach of strong police reinforcements. Several on each side were injured and a shop was wrecked.

Mrs. Eleanor Boch was reported on her way to Dresser Junction.

"I wouldn't go to Chicago to meet John's second wife, although I will be very glad to see her. But if she could go as far as Chicago in search of me, she can come to Dresser Junction."

Mrs. Eleanor Boch declared here that she intended to shower gifts on "the other woman" if her husband's life, and see that she was well taken care of financially.

My Marriage Problems

Edgar Garrison's New Phase of Revelations of a Wife

THE REASON MADGE WAS ASTONISHED BY ROBERT SAVARIN.

I do not think Robert Savarin saw me at all. For a second he stood still, staring at Lillian and Col. Travers in the officer's car, then he descended the steps and walked to the gate with a swift, panther-like step that I never had seen in his gait.

"Lillian!"

But the one word came from his lips, and that a hoarse call. I saw Lillian raise her head as she heard it, turn and look at the man who loved her so devotedly, but she had no time to answer if she wished to do so, for at that instant the engine responded to the officer's touch and the car sprang forward. Lillian waved her hand to the artist striding toward the gate, a friendly, commonplace air, and then the car was far down the road, with Robert Savarin staring after it.

I did not like the look upon his face. Vaguely it brought back to me the thought of those years before Lillian had come into his life for the second time, the years when his brain was clouded. I wondered, not for the first time, upon how from a foundation his restored sanity rested, whether some great shock, some blow might not push him back again into that awful mental darkness.

"WHO WAS THAT MAN?"

Rising impulsively, I went swiftly down the path toward him. I felt instinctively that the quick panacea for the absurd raving jealousy evidently consuming him was not near me, and I started violently at my loud upon his arm, as if he were a thoroughly bred racer quivering under a whip.

"Madge!" he ejaculated, as though he had not seen me for days. Then he grasped my arm and said:

"Who was that man?" he demanded.

I did not wince, though his fingers were pressing with unconscious cruelty into the flesh of my arm.

"Col. Travers," I returned, "of the state troopers. He is here on government work, the result of what happened last night, or do you know?"

His fingers relaxed and his arm dropped to his side.

"I know nothing," he said. "But I saw that my words had eased the awful tension to which his nerves had been keyed, although he was still too much under his influence to realize exactly what I was trying to tell him."

"Well, come and sit down, and I'll tell you about it," I said with purposely forced gaiety. "It's quite an exciting tale."

He turned and walked obediently to the veranda, speaking no word until we were seated in the comfortable porch chairs. Then, before I could speak, he asked a single explosive question.

"Did Lillian know that man before?"

A STRANGE STATEMENT.

I could have laughed at this exhibition of jealousy worthy of a high-school boy, had not his eyes shadowed with real mental anguish. I was troubled and sorely.

"She never saw or heard of him in her life before," I returned emphatically. "But you must know the position she holds in government work, do you not?"

The sardonic smile which he responded, "Yes, but."

I looked around carefully for possible listeners and then lowered my voice discreetly.

"Last night, a state trooper was shot while in the reservoir grounds," I said. "It happened at five o'clock. He was the one to find him, and Dickie, Mr. Cosgrove and the boys brought him to a little inn a mile from here. The man who shot him did it, accused us of the crime, and I showed the officer there and to Col. Travers. Lillian's badge which she had lent me for just such an emergency. There is a government endorsement to the thing it seems, and Col. Travers said it was imperative that he see Lillian at the first moment possible. So I named him at five o'clock. He arrived promptly, and Lillian herself suggested that they ride as they talked, so that there would be no possible danger of eavesdroppers. They should be back in a very few minutes."

A brick-red flush replaced his pallor, and I was glad to see that he was as thoroughly ashamed of himself as a man could well be for his asinine exhibition of jealousy. But, man-like, he took refuge in another grievance instead of acknowledging his error.

"I do not like this work for Lillian," he said a little sullenly, "or indeed, any work. She is not fit for anything but rest. If ever I have any authority over her, I shall stop all this nonsense."

I looked at him a minute in amazement, then decided that he meant exactly what he said, and I marveled that he, who loved Lillian so devotedly, had no better conception of her brain and indomitable will.

Authority over Lillian to stop the work which was as the breath of life to her: Even Harry Underwood, with all his faults, had not attempted this.

Listen, World!

Yesterday they found his body where he had left it. Beside it lay a note. "The world may call me a coward, but I am not," it said. "Life is only a biological performance, clumsily managed. I have ceased to enjoy or profit from its vicissitudes. My life is my own to terminate as I choose, and this is my answer. Good-bye."

That was his answer. But what is yours, World? Try an experiment. Set the thought of eternity, of God, of religion, aside. Look at life merely from its provable points. Consider merely your own human experience. Is life worth while? Have you the right to take your own? What is your conviction? Here is mine:

I do NOT believe that life is a biological performance which may be side-stepped at will by the means of suicide. Biology is a great and a marvelous science, but there are things in the human soul too vast for its encompassing. Biology can't explain to me the loyalty of a friend—the patience and heroism of a mother—the sacrifices of a father. Biology can't explain humor and honor, sympathy, or those far calls that sometimes echo through the little rooms of our spirit and leave us home-sick for a freer, more glorious house of life.

You may frown or sneer and tell me that all these impulses and motives are but part of the biological play by which we grow. EVEN IF THAT WERE SO, A PLAN WHICH HOLDS SUCH BEAUTY AND DIGNITY IS SURELY TOO GREAT FOR ME TO CAST OFF WITH A SNAP OF MY FINGERS. But I do not believe it is so. I think that biology is only one of the means to the End. I believe that life is a stupendous program which aims at something infinitely greater than the evolution of the human body or human mind. I believe that it is a program WHICH AIMS TO DO SOMETHING WITH THE HUMAN BODY AND MIND AFTER THEY ARE EVOLVED. I think that every individual act of beauty or bravery is a step toward the fulfillment of that program of life. And so, though I live I shall never forget it. It only impressed me firmly on my mind, how little we should judge our fellow-creature, whose chances in life have been ten to one against him. We cannot forget the needs of our poor, of our hungry little fellows. For if we do, some day that forgotten life is going to rise up and smile us.

In every human there is spirit of greatness, SOMEWHERE, but that spirit is often killed, dulled, or just left to die out. If circumstances, work, individual effort can make that spirit grow and expand—there's nothing in life quite so wonderful. Its possessor LIVES, maybe he sorrow, but with understanding and beauty that nothing can mar.

I consider that the writer of the following letter has that Spirit of Greatness, and I hand it on to you, knowing that no one can read it without an individual gain.

Dear Jerry:

Have just read "Constance's" defense of "Vestio Victore," and if it hadn't impressed me as being so sad and rather pitiful, it would have made me laugh. It is the old battle—intolerant youth back-biting the "facts of the case"—wanting only the best things of life and refusing the bitter and the sordid. Would that the ideal might exist! But as it doesn't, we must face life as it is, not as we would make it. Nineteen years of my life were spent behind schoolroom doors. After my high school life I took a normal course, and then special work at a university. My health failed. I was sent into the desert to mining camp, just such intelligence as Constance's letter breathes was mine. I was no prude, but life was before me. My ideals were of the highest that schooling could give. Can't you see me, Jerry? A female gladiator going forth to throw all that was "sordid, nasty and unnecessary" out of life.

I need not tell you what those first few months did to me. No one knows the suffering I endured. I found the world anything but what my ideals had led me to expect. When I learned to be human. When I learned the lesson that nothing is gained without suffering somewhere. When I learned the lesson that tolerance and faith in our fellow-men were the only real "stars" which were left to guide me. Life began to offer me so much more. I know today no one derives more joy from mere existence than I.

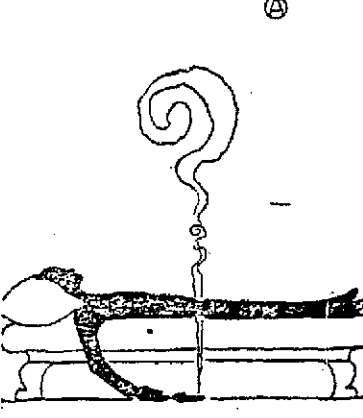

Some time ago a friend and I saw Griffith's "Broken Blossoms." When I argued that such conditions did exist, that the world was very apt to forget "How the other half lives," because the world wanted to forget, she thought I was accusing her of being narrow, ungenerous to her fellow-creature. I looked at her a minute and time to describe that picture. As long as

ATTRACTIVE RECIPES

Poached Fillet of Sole.

Prepare the fillet as usual, lay them in a baking-pan, cover them with court bouillon and poach fifteen minutes, then lift to a hot platter. Have ready a sauce made of two cups of milk and two tablespoons of olive oil or melted butter heated separately. Stir four tablespoons of flour into the hot oil, then add the milk and a spoonful of butter, pepper, salt, juice of an onion, a teaspoonful of sugar, a teaspoonful of anchovy essence and a cupful of shrimp, cut fine. Pour the sauce over the fish, dust with paprika and garnish with parsley and toast apples. Cod and blue-fish may be cooked in this way.

HAD HE THE RIGHT?

I live for such a little space and time on earth while I do live. I feel that I am "honor bound" to do what I can to make good, and that everything I do has tremendous importance because of its relationship to the universal good.

THAT'S WHY I DO NOT BELIEVE IN SUICIDE. The man who steps out that way may not be a coward. Often, indeed, he is a brave and knightly soul. I would not, but my word, censure him. But from my own living viewpoint, taking all possible pain into the reckoning, he chose the lesser adventure.

I feel, too, that if we once come to see life in this larger way, the very greatness of the vision will give us power to carry on—to face and do things we did not dream we could attempt. The vastness of the horizon will dwarf our pin-points.

As for me, I am going on! I am GOING ON because it seems to me a much greater adventure than GOING OUT. I am going to believe in the worth-whileness of life, even if I cannot always believe in the worth-whileness of others or myself. I am going to try to keep up the hearts of others and help them see this vision, too. And if afterwards I shall find out that I really wasn't needed as much as I thought I was, I shall at least have had the satisfaction of treating myself royally for a little while.

THAT'S MY ANSWER TO SUICIDE. IT'S AN UNWORTHY EVASION. I'LL SEE THE GAME THROUGH, WHATEVER THE COST.

I live I shall never forget it. It only impressed me firmly on my mind, how little we should judge our fellow-creature, whose chances in life have been ten to one against him. We cannot forget the needs of our poor, of our hungry little fellows. For if we do, some day that forgotten life is going to rise up and smile us.

Constance states that "the great war was the end of the end." How anyone who claims to be a student of human affairs can make such a statement is beyond comprehension. Evidently she has not read what the Editor of the "Sacramento Bee" has to say after two years study in Europe of economic conditions. Sordid, nasty and unnecessary—these are the conditions as they are, and were the world at large to pass them by, as Constance would, civilization would go out as a candle is puffed out by a strong wind.

Again in reference to where she speaks of no more of a famous actor. I do not say life is all ugliness. We couldn't exist if it were. But to know the real beauty of this old sphere, Constance, you'll have to get that little soul of yours to rub itself somewhat in the mire of life, else all the things you stand for will never give you anything. Journalism is the most interesting work I can think of, but unless you breathe the spirit of tolerance, unless your experience will bring you a charity toward your less fortunate brothers, forget your ambitions, for the world will have you not at all.

"It is so easy to call names, Jerry. Were Constance not such a child in experience, she would have refrained from that, at least. It stamps for me most emphatically the inexperience of her. Just what she means by calling the members of your 'gang' simple-minded, I don't know."

"Personally I have had more education than the majority. I received it in my food as a little tale. I breathed it all my growing years. My mother was a very brilliant woman. Yet, Jerry, as much as I realize what that education means, I wouldn't exchange the experience of life that the last few years have given me for all the education (school) that the world could give. Much that I learned I have had to forget. The crowded years of my later life have made that necessary. Constance, too, will cast aside much that she thinks now so inspiring, so wonderful. Some day she and her colleagues, too, will learn not to scorn."

Where—in a different world from theirs—What they call sins to him are prayers!

"So, Jerry, if your work accomplished only one-half of what I actually know it accomplishes, for Constance, my dear, only a very small percentage of us can be Mills graduates. It would still be worth while. However, I am going to say very little more, for when you are so tolerant as to be patient with this young person, 'soul-bitching,' you'll need little aid from this FRIEND."

P. S.—I wonder if C. studies algebra? Then X must equal Y, for if you write all your letters, Jerry, then you and Constance must be one and the same. If that were true, well, good night!

Geraldine

My Punishment

Each day—
As I go whistling on my way—
With grinding load—
It is a common sight to see—
Mail hungry folks—
Peek out at me—
From half-drawn blinds—
With eager eyes—
And smile if I perchance would have—
A letter—
But if I turn my face away—
Without some token—
They follow me with anxious face—
Far down the street—
And every day—
They stand and watch—
And sometimes weeks elapse—
Without a token from my hands—
Every passing day—
They stand there with a haunted face—
Until I grow quite peevish—
And little think—
How much my coming means to them—
Nor little think how hearts would break—
When I turn from them.

Until a week ago today—
When I bade those who held my heart—
A fond goodbye—
And then came back—
To a cheerless home—
And sat around and whistled low—
Then when I walked across the floor—
A ghostly echo answered back—
Each laggard step—
And here I found a baby's shoe—
And there a little rattle box—
Then as I picked them from the floor—
A tear came rolling down my cheek—
And splashed upon the carpet—
Each anxious day when I came home—
From toilsome effort—
I peeked into the old mail box—
With sad heart beating—
And as the days went dragging by—
And still no letter—
I looked into the glass and saw—
That look that I have often seen—
In hungry eyes—
That every day peek out at me—
From half-drawn curtains—
And in my heart I felt the tug—
That now I know they feel each day—
When carelessly I turn away—
And make my way on down the street—
Without some token—
From those who make life sad or gay—
And so I bow my head and take—
My punishment.

Child's History of the HUMAN RACE

by Ramon C. Hoffman

The Slaves of Rome

CHAPTER 143

It was dangerous for people to walk along country roads in Italy during early Roman times. There was no telling when a band of slave-traders might swoop down and capture wayfarers. Thousands of men, women and children were taken as slaves in this way. Sometimes so because slaves were worth money. Beatings, however, were common.

There were several slave markets in Rome. The unhappy persons who had been captured were sold at auction. They were trotted around as if they were animals for sale. The usual price was between $50 and $100.

Probably the hardest life was led by the slaves who worked on farms. From sunrise to sunset—or even longer—they toiled, picking grapes or olives, caring for herds and taking care of growing crops. The whip of the overseer was often on their backs.

Winifred Black writes about FOLKS and THINGS

WOMEN AND JUDGES.

"Any pretty, thirty-six a woman has to be as hideous as a gargoyle not to fill his soul with the same queer mystified attraction that he felt when he was sixteen."

Women grow up—men never do. No woman of fifty who can read and write and who doesn't belong in a home for the feeble-minded dreams of falling in love with a boy of sixteen. The man of sixty will fall in love with a girl of sixteen—she's too old for him—fifteen is about his age limit, and he doesn't get better as he grows older—he gets worse.

No man should be expected to sit in calm judgment on any woman in any affair in which justice is needed.

If the woman is pretty he'll be too lenient with her. If she's ugly and unattractive, he'll be too severe.

TOO MUCH TO ASK.

It is too much to ask of a man to expect him to remember that the person on trial is just a human being after all. To him a woman is a woman—and that settles it.

Women are not so easily fooled—even about men.

And when it comes to other women they have lynx eyes and the ears of a fawn.

To be sure, there is a type of woman who is inclined to lean the other way and instinctively side against a woman—but that type is fast dying out.

Yes, I'm with you, Mrs. Van Winkle. I believe we ought to have a woman judge or so on the bench in order to get real justice for women who are brought to the bar.

Every new woman is a new interest to him. He flings about her the cloak of his imagination and sees in her just exactly what he wants to see—no more and no less.

And while she attracts him in the least way—he simply cannot see an inch through the veil.

Women wear the same veil for a few minutes—they don't wear it for a lifetime. To a girl of sixteen every strange man is a possible hero. To the woman of twenty-six, only one man is romantic. And to the woman of thirty-six, every man is—just a man—and that's all.

To the boy of sixteen, every woman is a possible lure. To the man of twenty-six every woman is a possible lure. And to the man of thirty-six, every woman is—just a woman—and that's all.

As the train goes two bridge lengths less one foot, while the cow goes half a bridge length, less five feet, and would go three bridge lengths, less three inches, while the cow went half a bridge length, plus four feet, nine inches, we see that the train would go five bridge lengths, less fifteen inches, while the cow went one bridge length, less three inches. So the train goes five times as fast as the cow, and two bridges lengths less one foot is equal to two and a half bridge lengths, less twenty-five feet. Hence half a bridge length is twenty-four feet and the whole length is forty-eight feet.

Forgers

CHAPTER 72

FORGED deeds, forged confessions, warehouse receipts, stocks, bonds, mortgages, theater tickets, railroad tickets, negotiable instruments, bills of lading—all these are the meat of the criminal forger.

Forgery is defined as fraudulently issuing or altering a document with the intention of deceiving a person into believing it to be genuine to their damage. If a genuine document is altered so as materially to change its effect, either by erasure or addition of words, this is sufficient to constitute the offense.

Thomas B. Henry, internationally known crook, perpetrated a series of deed forgeries that resulted in the loss of thousands of dollars to innocent persons and which hauled up the records in a good many county offices.

Henry, who was sentenced to McNeil's Island Federal Penitentiary recently, has a Scottish Yard record and is known from coast to coast.

Henry was made a notary through false credentials. His first move was to locate a piece of very desirable property belonging to a non-resident. Then he went to the hall of records, found the deed, and copied the signature of the owner.

His next move was to make out a deed to a "myth" (non-existent person) as Henry Jones, for the non-resident owner's name to it, witness it himself as a notary, and then place the false document on record. The myth then deeded the property to Thomas B. Henry and the bad check artist proceeded to sell it or borrow money on it.

Henry worked for a year on the Pacific Coast, then went to Chicago. He was arrested there for using the mails to defraud, a Federal charge.

Easterners came to California to find that their property had been sold and re-sold and was being occupied by people who paid him no rent. Claims and counterclaims to the reality were made and court actions followed.

Finally the matter was untangled and the property restored to its proper owners.

Forged checks, bonds and other negotiable instruments are quite common, especially the first named.

Very rarely indeed that a forger can utter a document that can get by a good handwriting expert, however. Sometimes he gives himself away by slipshod methods and then again he may reveal his identity by being mechanically exact.

No human hand can write his name the same two times in succession. If you find a signature so correct as this, it can well be taken as a tracing. A certain handwriting expert in the west was puzzled over an allegedly false signature until he noted that it was a perfect duplicate of the signature of the accused had in his possession. This convinced him that the forger had traced the signature. He faded out the ink and found the pencil tracings underneath.

Microscopic photographs of handwriting now reveal to the naked eye details in a genuine document where the lines are made rapidly and naturally, they are straight. In the forged document where the lines are drawn slowly and carefully they are jagged. This is caused by the "tremor" of a hand moving slowly will tremble slightly and produce sawtooth marks, although the teeth may not be visible to the casual observer.

Under the microscope and in the photograph, handwriting lines appear as two black lines, corresponding to the pen nibs. As greater pressure is exerted in the pen, these nibs spread and of course the lines are farther apart. The angle at which a pen is held will determine the relation of these nibs to each other and greatly affect the appearance of the parallel lines. Therefore in studying an exemplar (sample) of writing, the first thing that the expert finds out is the "slant" at which the writer holds his pen.

Even the cleverest forger cannot imitate his victim's "slant" exactly; in fact he seldom knows it, so many questionable documents are unearthed in this manner.

One of the most famous and unique forgers in the world was Charles Becker, who swindled the Bank of France in Paris out of 5,000,000 francs, was sentenced to life imprisonment for raising a check from $2 to $22,000 in San Francisco, and who died recently in New York, a poor man.

Of a Careless Nature

A colored man owned a mule which, for reasons best known to himself, he desired to sell. Possibly her defective eyesight had something to do with his desire to dispose of her. He heard that a neighbor down the road was in the market for a mule. So he put a halter on the animal and led her to the cabin of the other negro.

At once negotiations were entered into. The owner had delivered himself of a eulogy touching on the strength, capacity for hard work, and amiable disposition of his beast, when the prospective purchaser broke in with a question:

"Is dis yere mule fast?"

"Fast?" the proprietor snorted. "Look yere!" He gave the mule a kick in the ribs, whereupon she bucked sideways, tore down a strip of fencing, galloped headlong through a week's washing, butting against the side of the barn, and then coming off, tore across a garden patch and vanished into the woods beyond the clearing.

"Look yere, nigger," said the owner of the damaged property, "dat mule must be blind."

"She ain't blind," said the owner, "but she jest natchelly don't keer a dam!"

Uncle Wiggily Stories by HOWARD R. GARN

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE DEER BERRIES.

"Quick, Uncle Wiggily! Quick!" called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy one morning, as she hurried to where the rabbit gentleman was sitting on a bench at the back door of his hollow stump bungalow. Uncle Wiggily was putting fresh paint on his red, white and blue striped barber pole rheumatism crutch.

"Quick, Uncle Wiggily!" called Nurse Jane again, banging against the bungalow, a tin pail she was carrying, until it sounded like a cow bell. "Take this and hurry to the woods and pick some raspberries!"

"What for?" asked the bunny uncle, as he thoughtfully twinkled his pink nose. "Are you going to make raspberry jam?"

"No, indeed," answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "But Johnnie Bushytail, the squirrel, just came from the store, where he had gone to get me a yeast cake. On his way back he passed Mrs. Stubbail, the lady bear. He heard them talking and they said they were coming here to call. I must offer them tea, and I haven't a thing for dessert—not a bit of pie or cake. But if you will hurry to the woods you can pick me some raspberries, and they will make a lovely dessert."

"I'll go at once," offered Mr. Longears, standing by the painted crutch against the bungalow to dry in the sun. "I know the lady bear loves berries, for all bears do. And Mrs. Twistytail must like them also. I'll get you some raspberries! I think I see Mrs. Twistytail and Mrs. Stubbail coming now."

"Then hurry off before they see you!" begged Nurse Jane. "I wouldn't, for the world have them think I had no dessert in the house."

Over the fields and to the woods hopped Uncle Wiggily with the tin pail on his paw. He was far enough away when Mrs. Twistytail and her friend, the lady bear, reached the bungalow.

Uncle Wiggily looked this way and that in the fields, but though he saw many red raspberry bushes, not a berry was to be picked! It was too late for them! He thought the bunny "No berries for Nurse Jane's dessert! I had better hop back and tell her and perhaps she can think of something else to give the company."

Rather easily Uncle Wiggily hopped back to the bungalow. He knew it would not be quite the thing to do to go in and tell Mrs. Twistytail and Mrs. Stubbail that he could not get her no raspberries.

"I'll knock at the back door, make believe I'm a peddler, and when Nurse Jane comes I'll whisper to her," through the bunny.

"I couldn't get any raspberries," he whispered.

He knocked. "Tap! Tap! Tap!" on the back door. Nurse Jane, who was talking to the bear lady and the pig lady, exclaimed:

"Oh, excuse me a moment until I find who's at the back door!" You can imagine how surprised she was to see Uncle Wiggily.

"I couldn't get any raspberries," he whispered. "What shall I do?"

"Oh, I hardly know," said Nurse Jane, all confused like.

"I might get you some blackberries, though," offered the bunny.

"They'll be lovely!" said the muskrat lady. "Why didn't you pick them instead of coming all the way home?"

"I never thought of it!" confessed Uncle Wiggily. Away he hopped again with the tin pail. Now he only thought he could get some blackberries. He had not really seen any. And when he went to look for them, not one was to be found!

"Dear me, no blackberries!" sighed the bunny. "What shall I do? I must go tell Nurse Jane again and she'll be so disappointed!" He hopped back to the bungalow, knocked on the door again, and when Miss Fuzzy came he whispered:

"No blackberries for dessert, either!"

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Nurse Jane.

"Maybe I could get some huckleberries," offered the bunny.

"Oh, why didn't you?" asked the muskrat lady. "Why didn't you?"

"I'll go back now," said Uncle Wiggily. Backed he hoped, but he could find no huckleberries, as it was too late for them. Uncle Wiggily hardly knew what to do when, all of a sudden, he heard a noise in the bushes. At first he thought it was the Fox or Wolf. But, looking a second time, he saw a deer, caught by his horns in a tangle of wild grape vine.

"Oh, I can't get my horns loose!" bleated the deer.

"I'll help you," offered Uncle Wiggily, and by gnawing apart the strands of grape vine with his strong teeth, the bunny set the deer free, so it could run about.

"You did me a great favor," said the deer. "I wish I could do one for you. Can't I?"

"Not unless you can tell me where to get some berries, and there are none left," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "No raspberries, blackberries or huckleberries for Nurse Jane's dessert."

"How would deer berries do?" asked the antlered stag. "See, growing on the wintergreens are red berries. Some call them deer berries, and some name them squaw huckleberries, after the Indians. They are lovely and sweet and flavored with wintergreen. They come late in the summer when the other berries are gone. See, the ground is covered with red deer berries. I love them, but there are more than enough for me."

And sure me a great favor, there were thousands of the sweet, red berries. Uncle Wiggily had looked up instead of down, and so had failed to see them. But the deer showed him where they grew and soon the bunny's pail was filled with the red berries. And when Jane served them for dessert the pig lady and the bear lady said:

"Oh, they are most delicious!"

And though of the deer berries were left over for some of the animal boys and girls to eat, so everything ended happily, and if the dishpan doesn't hide under the sink when the loman wants to give it a ride on the back of his horse, next you will hear about Uncle Wiggily and the green needles.

WELCOME TO OAKLAND

Perhaps the greatest need before Oakland, after a knowledge of itself, is to make others acquainted with the story. The community has developed so fast and in so many ways that none but those who are closest in touch with the business, industrial, shipping and other interests have the realization of what has taken place.

A debt, then, is to be paid to a group of such men who are devoting their efforts to welcome to this city its neighbors and friends from nearby. From September 11 to 16 there is to be a "Welcome to Oakland Week," six days of hospitality and entertainment.

On the theory that Oakland desires to be better known, that its greatness is worthy of wider attention, these men have invited the state to come and see for itself. The large factories, largest on the Pacific Coast, will be open for inspection, the streets and the stores will be decorated, amusement places will have special programs, and free parking spaces will be provided for the visitors who come by automobile. Doubtless thousands will respond to the invitation.

Next week, then, it behooves every resident of Oakland, to imbue himself with the spirit of the occasion. There are stories to be told here in the new homes which are being built in every section, in the business blocks going up downtown, in the stores, factories, and on the waterfront. It is up to the city to show its visitors a pleasant time and to let them know some of these things about Oakland which many Oaklanders are but now learning for themselves.

WHERE ANCHORS DO NOT DRAG

When men of the Eastbay talk of their harbor how many of them know it is the only completely landlocked harbor on the Pacific, from South America to the Arctic? In no other place may vessels anchor side and side in the assurance that movement of the tides and winds will not drag the anchors. This is a valuable requisite for a port and one which is partly responsible for the increasing number of vessels which come to the estuary for loading and unloading.

The natural advantages of Oakland's harbor could not be better. At points the estuary could be wider and there are places where dredging would help. These things are to be done under the Federal program. The city contemplates the building of a new wharf and the preliminary actions toward a new government survey, for a program to fit onto the one now ordered, have been made. A southern shipbuilding concern has recognized the necessity for a plant in the Eastbay.

The harbor is to be more and more the greatest asset of the Eastbay. When it is neglected destiny is postponed.

FOR SERVICE MEN

"To create and foster, especially among the young citizens, a sense of appreciation of the sacrifice of the disabled veteran; to seek the setting aside of a national observation day to commemorate such sacrifice by all proper means; to promote the prompt hospitalization of the sick; to insist upon a comprehensive and effective plan of rehabilitation and vocational training, and to enlist the co-operation of all agencies, governmental and private, working on his behalf."

These are the purpose of a newly launched "Citizens' Committee of America," an organization which has as organizers and on its membership roll many names known the country over. The plan, as it would appear, is to give the answer to those who maintain the country is not doing its duty to the service man, to make sure hospital conditions are improved and to disprove the recent assertion of General Sawyer, "few there are who have particular concern in the disabled war veteran."

It is not true there are but few who are concerned in what is and what should be done for the disabled veteran, but it is true there are many who take it for granted everything possible is being done in his behalf. The Citizens' Committee is pledged to reveal the facts. It holds the belief that the American people little realize the situation and dedicates its efforts for improvement. Its membership is of a kind to guarantee its sincerity and power for accomplishment.

The Citizens' Committee of America is a new organization of which more is to be heard. If it holds to its program as announced it will have a nation-wide support.

WATCH THE DELTA

That part of California known as the Delta gives to the world each year 10,000,000 bushels of potatoes. This crop, the growers say, could be increased to 30,000,000 bushels.

What is needed to work the multiplication is a scientific campaign against potato pests and potato diseases. The Delta would like to have the government establish an experiment station there and has sent one of its leading men to the capital to ask for that assistance.

The experiment station should be provided. The potato, wherever it is grown, is subject to a large number of attacking parasites and maladies. Some of these appear almost overnight to take the profits and the investment of a year with them. In common with the growers of other sections those of the Delta have suffered.

Whether or not the station is established the farmers in the river region are to co-operate with the government experts to combat those things which make inroads upon their crops. They have met together and the campaign is outlined. From the spirit and determination evidenced it would appear nothing can stop them from multiplying the producing wealth of their lands by two or three.

FOR PUBLIC HEALTH

If there is any service which should come to rich and poor alike it is that brought into the home by the skilled nurse. In the establishment of community health, the prevention of disease, and the care of those disabled, financial limitations should play no part.

The nurse gives three or more years to preparation in her profession. Her services demand remuneration and are, usually, worth more than can be given to her. If she is to go into the homes of those who cannot afford her services, the community or a charitable organization must stand the expense. In either case the city receives more than is paid, for there is nothing else which works so certainly for the general health, the prevention of contagious diseases, and the welfare of the largest number.

The Visiting Nurse Association of Alameda county sends nurses in the homes for an hour at a time. It provides instruction to members of families who are caring for the sick, and it educates the public in preventive medicine. Those interested in this work in Alameda county are performing a public service. They are helping the county keep its proud place among the most healthful in the country, are removing care and worry, and, each year, save to the community thousands of dollars.

It is stated in a news item that the buffalo on the nickel may be replaced by a California beauty, Mint Director Scoley being in favor of it. Very sensible and evincing an artistic eye on the part of the director. Almost anybody who thinks it over is likely to ask, Why a buffalo? The animal is pretty well extinct. He is losing out, and the suggestion in this connection is not appropriate on an American coin. Besides, the word has come to have a meaning that doesn't entirely justify it for adornment. It is not necessary to enter upon a discourse as to the California Beauty. She is an adornment in any situation and under all circumstances. All hail the California girl, and a bas the buffalo!

The awful accident at San Lorenzo does not seem to have been of the class of those generally reported. It was not due to the driver trying conclusions with a locomotive at a crossing, but to his failure to see the approaching train. As the four who occupied the automobile met horrible deaths it does not appear that the catastrophe carries the usual warning. Still it would seem that something could be done to forestall a repetition at this crossing, and indeed at all crossings where the train approach is not clearly apparent. It may come to the abolition of crossings on the same level. The automobile is piling up accidents at such a rate that it may be found necessary to adopt precautions that were not found necessary in other days.

The vote on the six charter amendments in Oakland shows all proposals defeated except the one removing residence restrictions beyond one year from ex-service men who apply for positions on the fire and police department. It is significant that the second proposal, that for an appointive school board, was defeated by the largest majority, 53,758 to 6,522, and the feeling on this question was much more one-sided and pronounced than in issues where decreased expenditure was at stake. For the second time Oakland has declared emphatically it desires to elect its school board.

So far the long skirts are worn largely in the news columns.

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

From all over the state it is reported that much of the Richardson vote of Tuesday was by the "wets," who thought they were swatting a "dry." We have even heard of a number of votes cast in Merced on that theory. If this is true the boys who voted that way have an awful jolt coming, as Friend Richardson was one of the leading "drys" of the state before most of us even dreamed of prohibition.—Merced Star.

One of the biggest election surprises was the decisive victory of Friend Wm. D. Stephens for governor over Wm. D. Stephens, incumbent. Richardson's economy slogan, impending "house cleaning" and his promise to save the State over $19,000,000 in four years without doing a thing, evidently played a big factor in his race for gubernatorial honors.—Brentwood News.

Friend W. Richardson is not so well known (as Hiram W. Johnson) but those who know him best have the strongest reliance upon his conduct when he is placed at the helm in the affairs of the State. He has received a mandate from the people to be economical and to cut down expenses. We believe he will obey that mandate, and that he will not make the mistake of the present

Governor of talking economy and practicing extravagance. Richardson will be Governor de facto as well as de jure.—Antioch Ledger.

Friend Richardson has beaten William D. Stephens for the nomination for Governor. The former went before the people on the sole issue of reduction of the cost of government, and on that issue he won. The Californian more than eight months ago pointed out that if Richardson could get his message before the people and convince them of his sincerity, he would be the victor.—Bakersfield Californian.

The press of California (the weekly publications) has upset the entire political aspect of the state. It has proven conclusively that when united, hammering away for a common cause, it is a power—a power that completely shatters the state administration, for at least the next four years. The manner in which the weekly press of California came out for Friend W. Richardson, for Governor, won for him the Republican nomination.—San Leandro Reporter.

LAST NIGHT THE BABY CRIED.

Roused from a sound and soothing sleep,
Wondered to hear that little cry.
For ten long years in slumber deep
I've lived my nights, and so it seemed
That what I'd heard I'd only dreamed.
For ten long years a banging gate,
The milkman's whistle, or the horn
Of motors driven at rapid rate,
Have awakened me at early dawn;
But late last night awake was I,
Thinking I'd heard a baby cry.

I leaned upon my elbow there
And wondered did I dream or not?
But once again upon the air
The call came from her tiny cot!
Then peacefully I turned and smiled
To hear the crying of our child.

Lonely and still the house has seemed
For ten long years, but once again
We have the joy of which we'd dreamed—
The joy which many seek in vain!
Oh, happy, happy home, thought I,
That wakes to hear a baby cry.

MINES CLOSED BY GHOST.

The Fushun coal mine of China is one of the largest open-cut mines in the world. The Tatars are known to have worked the mine in the twelfth century.
For years the Chinese officialdom has always pointed to the fact that the spirit of Tai-Tsu-Kao, a Manchu emperor, who was buried ten miles away in the seventh century, must not be disturbed. Thus for centuries superstition kept over 1,000,000,000 tons of coal untouched.
In their efforts to open the mines, the Japanese of only a few years ago had to contend with the official hostility to their scheme on the part of the Chinese officials, but even the native coolies were reluctant at first to work, through their fear of the sleeping Tai-Tsu-Kao, ten miles distant.—North China Herald.

One Explanation of Park Bond Defeat

To the Editor of The Tribune:

West Oakland has definitely called a halt to any further attempts to thwart its development as the strategic entrance and exit of the harbor and city of great destiny. Oakland, the geographic center of commerce and industry on the Pacific Coast, is the Golden Horn of near promise. West Oakland is the mouthpiece of that Horn and will remain so, notwithstanding any continuation of past or present administrative disregard rendered it by the city, state or federal government.

A glance at the map will assure the reader that the inexorable laws of nature dictate its omnipotence. West Oakland realizes its destiny and refuses to countenance any further advance from those elements whose influence and ignorance has tended to minimize the advantages of its position and the character of its people.

Unfortunately such propaganda in the past has actually formed the opinion of many, that West Oakland is a backward district; not realizing that the only backward influence to its progress were the speakers themselves, whose wish was father to the thought, and whose actions, so dictated, resulted in the abandonment of West Oakland development.

Contrary to the opinion of these self-constituted leaders, histories of great harbors prove that all great commercial arteries are those streets or avenues which begin at the natural harbor and run at right angles to its harbor line (like Market Street in San Francisco)—and never parallel.

Seventh street is the main artery of this kind and around this street in West Oakland is the greatest populated district in the city. Within this immense area bounded by 15th and Market streets, towards the bay in both directions, there is not one single park for public recreation. In the center of this congested district is a beautiful private park called the McDermott property on 7th and Center streets, which the owner is willing to sell the city on the basis of a fair appraisal.

For the last six months an intensive campaign was conducted by representative citizens of West Oakland with the city officials for the purpose of having the city purchase this park and thereby solve the city's playground problem. But all to no purpose, notwithstanding that this park is the most beautiful of its kind within the city limits. The representatives were not even given a decent hearing by the city Council.

West Oakland in the past has always loyally supported every administration and for the last fifteen years has patiently conducted the fight for the park. Hearing that West Oakland was thoroughly aroused by this latest refusal, the "authorities" that "flooded" the district with pamphlets actually threatening them with direful events if they did not vote to "save the Sequoias."

Indignantly refusing to be thus trampled upon, West Oakland heavily defeated all administration proposals and apparently will continue to do so until it is rendered justified recognition. The administration points to harbor expenditures as proof of recognition, but West Oakland points out that the harbor is a mile away across a sandy waste from the nearest home in West Oakland and furthermore that such expenditures were dictated by commercial necessity of the entire city, while West Oakland proper is entirely abandoned.

The administration is spreading news reports of expenditures in West Oakland playgrounds. These playgrounds are small and inadequate and mostly far removed from the center of population to be of any value, the immediate need being a large park and playground on Seventh street where the congestion could be alleviated and where there is only one site left for such purposes.

Any countercharge is fully answered by the specified facts. The cosmopolitan population of the district also being a large one, enhances the difficulties of large numbers of their Oakland-born kiddies further complicates the Americanization problem which could be easily solved by the Americanizing influence of park and playground.

These added and acute problems have aroused the civic pride of the vast majority of the people of West Oakland, whose representative citizens are unanimously determined to secure due consideration for the district which should be Oakland's pride and "Riviera" with a beautiful harbor esplanade running parallel to its waterfront. The significance of the contrast on our waterfront is painfully apparent and self-explanatory. What greets the vision? Dumps! Dumps! Dumps! and more Dumps!

JAMES A. DRAGICEVICH.

LICENSE ACT IS AIMED AT U.C. STADIUM

Berkeley Council Considers Series of Ordinances Designed to Force Change in Selection of Site

BERKELEY, Sept. 4.—The University of California may be forced to pay the city of Berkeley a license fee of $1000 for each of ten football games planned annually for the proposed $1,000,000 stadium in Strawberry canyon.

That an ordinance which will force college authorities to pay at least $10,000 annually in fees to the city treasury is being drafted and will be presented to the city council shortly became known today. The ordinance is planned as a new step in a campaign launched by municipal authorities to force the regents to choose a site other than Strawberry canyon for the proposed stadium.

Councilman George Schmidt, in preparing his proposed ordinance, follows action taken last week by Councilman Charles D. Heywood, commissioner of public health and safety, in opposing the erection of the concrete stadium in the hillside residential region on the ground that it would prove a fire menace to the adjoining portions of the city. That no parking of automobiles will be allowed within one mile of the stadium, should the regents refuse to change the site selected, was the ultimatum given.

FORCE EXTRA POLICE.
Should the stadium be actually erected in Strawberry canyon fully 100 extra policemen would be needed to enforce traffic regulations, handle the crowds and protect property in the vicinity, declare municipal officials. The $1000 license fee, it is held, would be necessary to cover the expenses of such extra help.

"In planning the license fee there is no desire to secure revenue from the university for the city treasury," explains Councilman Schmidt. "Practically all of the money represented in the fees charged would be used to give property owners in the region of the stadium the protection to which they are entitled. It is not fair that when a game is held at the university the entire police force of Berkeley should be called out to do traffic regulation and other similar work, leaving the remainder of the city unprotected."

PROBLEMS INCREASED.
The location of the stadium as now planned would increase the problems of handling the crowds of automobiles which would come to Berkeley for the games, and the opportunity to care for the crowds. Thousands of dollars of damage would be done every time a big game is held, the beautiful homes adjoining Strawberry canyon and the destruction of this section, one of the handsomest in Berkeley, would mean an irreparable loss. The imposing of a $1000 fee for each 'big game' is the only solution we can see to a knotty problem if the regents insist on building the stadium in the site chosen."

Councilman Schmidt's proposed ordinance is believed to have the endorsement of the majority of council members.

TO CONSIDER ARGUMENTS.
The ordinance, together with other arguments against the proposed stadium site, will be presented by a committee of city officials which will meet in special conference with the building and grounds committee of the board of regents to present the municipal side of the controversy which has waged for some months against the Strawberry Canyon site.

Chief of Police August Vollmer, who has been consulted concerning traffic problems and other difficulties which may arise, is declared to have placed the number of men needed to police Berkeley, during a 'big game,' at 100. That the city treasury is unable to meet the expense of this extra force of officers and that funds must be provided somewhere is the chief's statement.

At the last meeting of the city council an injunction against the regents preventing the university officials from beginning work on the concrete athletic bowl was urged by Carol Aronovici, consultant to the city planning commission.

CHARLES KEELER at work remodeling his amphitheater in Berkeley hills

POET KEELER DIGS AMPHITHEATER IN BERKELEY HILLS

BERKELEY, Sept. 4.—That Berkeley as the academic center of the west can boast of more outdoor amphitheaters than any city of its size in the country, is attested by Secretary Charles Keeler of the Chamber of Commerce.

Keeler has just finished remodeling an amphitheater of his own set amid oaks in a canyon site at his home in Claremont, Pasadena. All of the work on the outdoor theater has been done by Keeler himself, who presides as host at numerous artistic gatherings in the open-air playhouse. The hillside has been carved out, to arrange for natural seats, and a theater, with a seating capacity of several hundred persons has thus been made.

Added to the famous Greek theater on the university campus and Keeler's miniature outdoor playhouse is a new amphitheater set amid willows on Colodoceros creek, which is being improved as part of the artistic program of the Colodoceros club. A theater which will seat 1000 persons and add still a new outdoor assembly place to Berkeley's already artistic gathering places will be provided.

RECOUNT TO BE ASKED IN FIGHT FOR NOMINATION

Bert Curry of Richmond Said to Intend Applying for Another Tally.

MARTINEZ, Sept. 4.—With an official check of election returns showing that Coroner C. F. Donnelly has a majority of but 252 votes over Bert Curry of Richmond, it was stated today from authoritative sources that Curry will undoubtedly ask for a recount of ballots. The official check made by County Clerk J. H. Wells shows 7565 votes for Donnelly and 7313 for Curry.

Published reports fixing Donnelly's majority at near 700 were in error because of duplications of precincts in which a favorable vote for Donnelly was recorded.

While Curry has not made definite statement that a recount will be asked it was stated today by persons close to him that such action is contemplated and will probably be taken.

The narrow margin by which Donnelly appears to have been elected recalls the election of four years ago when Donnelly bested Curry by but 216 votes.

The official tabulation gives Veale 6029 and Reggardo 5809.

Wells has not completed his tabulation on other candidates.

News of the Churches

Strike Must End, Says Pastor

Stating that his attitude in the present industrial strife is not as a representative of the employer or employee, but as a spokesman for the public, Rev. Clarence Reed, pastor of the First Unitarian church, yesterday morning delivered a sermon entitled "The Strike Must Go," saying in part:

"On the basis of human rights it is not possible to justify the right to strike in the case of the employees of a public service corporation or in industries that furnish the food and fuel supply of the nation, provided a just method of conciliation or arbitration has been established by the government. A general strike makes it impossible for a citizen to exercise certain of his lawful rights.

"Even if a general strike, in which the necessities of life are concerned, could be conducted without violence, it would be dangerous to the welfare of the public. A man will die as a result of a clogged artery, just as surely as from a cut artery. The railroad belongs to the circulatory system of the body politic. It would cause the American people almost as much suffering to stop all railroad

Greatest Reception Is Theme

"The greatest reception ever given in the bay district, was not to Marshal Foch or President Wilson, it was when the believer received Christ," said Dr. Frank M. Sibley last night at the First Presbyterian church, while preaching on "The Greatest Reception Ever Given in Oakland." He said in part:

"The fault of the average truth-seeker is not that he seeks, but that he makes his life a seeking, rather than receiving Christ as truth. When we believe Christ we receive two things—the baptism and the gift of His Spirit. Baptism is a sadly abused rite because it has been made too much of a term of theology and controversy, rather than a simple and significant because it seals and signifies the cleansing of the inner life by the spirit of God. The plan of God and conscience for our life is that it shall be a clean, sanitary life, not only physically but morally and spiritually.

"The supreme need of the people of this era is that they shall re-

FORMER KAISER SLATED TO WED DURING OCTOBER

Princess Hermine of Reuss
Reported Betrothed to Deposed Ruler.

BERLIN, Sept. 4.—(By International News Service.)—The former German Kaiser is engaged to be married to Princess Hermine of Reuss, it was learned today from an authoritative source.

The wedding, according to present plans, will take place in October after the former Kaiser's birthday.

The princess recently visited Doorn, Holland, where the former emperor is living in exile, but traveled incognito, and the journey was made so quietly that only a few knew of it.

News of the engagement is still a secret in Germany. Its publication is expected to cause a sensation and divide aristocracy into two camps. The princess owns a large estate at Saarbor, Prussian Silesia.

She was formerly the wife of Prince Schonaich-Carolath, who died of lung trouble during the war while fighting with the Dragon Guards. She is one of five sisters, one dead, who was formerly the wife of the Grand Duke of Saxe-Meiningen.

Auto Stolen Three Years Ago Recovered

SAN JOSE, Sept. 4.—Recovery of an automobile stolen from this city three years ago, the machine being located at Long Beach, was reported today by Sheriff George W. Lyle.

The automobile, owned by Otis T. Whiting, member of the Santa Clara county probation office, was stolen from the corner of Second and San Antonio streets in October, 1919. Sheriff Lyle, at that time, sent out reports of the theft, but no trace of the car was obtained.

Recently, however, in compliance with his custom of continuing search for stolen automobiles until recovered, Lyle sent another bulletin out on old stolen cars, giving engine numbers and descriptions. The bulletin brought results, information being received yesterday that the car is in the possession of the Long Beach Brick company. Lyle has telegraphed word to the sheriff of Los Angeles county to hold the car until the arrival of deputies from this city.

Leaders Blamed for Industrial Ills

"We have been trying all sorts of supposed panaceas for physical and political ills, when the trouble at the bottom of most of our woes, personal, municipal and national, is lack of a right relationship with God," was the statement upon which Dr. Charles L. Kloss, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church, here, based his Sunday sermon on "Sick Men, Sick Cities, Sick Nations," yesterday.

Continuing, he stated in part: "Cities and nations are sick in many instances because they have wrong leaders. We do not pay enough in salaries to attract the big minds of the world to public office, frequently, but the remedy lies not in an increase in those salaries. The cure is in a more patriotic and unselfish attitude on the part of those big men of affairs who would make personal sacrifice in income, in order to serve their fellow men. In England few mayors receive any salary whatever. Why should not our big men heed the call of duty regardless of financial emolument?

Self Government on Trial, View

In discussing the subject, "Self Government," at the First Unitarian church of Berkeley, yesterday, Rev. Robert F. Lovens, a pastor, pointed out the origin and the needs of a self-governed people. In part he stated:

"There are those who think that what the world needs most is leadership; that the times call for a political or religious leader to save society from self-destruction. This sounds like the old longing for a heaven-sent Messiah to redeem the world. But the world is not likely to be saved by leaders, either human or superhuman. If the race of man is willing to die the slave and victim of its own appetites and inventions, no human soul, however great or gifted, no angel, no superman, can prevent it. ## Cowboy's Spurs Become Involved With Auto Shift

HAYWARD, Sept. 4.—When D. V. Sommers of Los Angeles attempted to ride an automobile with spurs yesterday his rowels became involved with the shift and clutch, the car leaped for the sidewalk, and Joseph Brandon, traffic officer, caught between the machine and the curb, came out of the mixup with two mangled fingers.

Sommers had been riding with Emil Heguy of 1417, Hillvale avenue, Los Angeles, when Heguy was halted by Brandon for fast driving after running into a car driven by H. P. Meyer, proprietor of a garage on the Foot-hill boulevard between Oakland and Hayward. The collision occurred at E and Castro streets in Hayward. Brandon said Heguy had been going 32 miles an hour.

"Is the machine pinched too?" Sommers asked.

Brandon said no, and permitted Sommers, dressed in sombrero, high boots and spurs, to start away with it. There was where the spurs and the machine gear got into trouble.

Heguy was held in Hayward today while trying to raise $200 bail. There was no charge placed against Sommers, who accompanied Chief of Police F. P. Schilling to Oakland.

Victim of Robbery Pleads for Assailant

The officers found Swanson lying in the gutter, his head cut open. Removed to the emergency hospital the man "came to," whereupon he declared he had been beaten and his money and valuables stolen.

Asked if he had obtained any description of his assailant, Swanson replied in the affirmative, declaring the man was "a friend" and "a justice."

TURLOCK SHIPS EIGHT CARLOADS OF GRAPES DAILY

Prices Remain Uncertain On Account of Trouble in Railroad World.

TURLOCK, Sept. 4.—The shipping of grapes is now in full blast with an average of seven or eight cars leaving here daily, and it is expected that the daily consignments will rapidly increase. During the past few days the thermometer has been juggling with itself in the vicinity of 100 and all varieties of fruit have been ripening rapidly. Fortunately the shipment of melons has fallen off a great degree because freight space is very scarce. There are a few minor shipments of casabas, honeydews and cantaloupes.

A start has been made with the canning of Philip cinder peaches, most of which are under contract to the Hume cannery.

Grape prices here still remain an uncertain quantity, being afraid to contract on account of the railroad imbroglio, and the growers not being in a mood to accept prices offered by the shippers, who consider they are taking a hazard as to whether they can get the fruit away or not. The railway situation has surely upset things here.

There are no definite prices available, but Thompsons are selling around $25 a ton, malagas and zinfandels are quoted at prices varying from $50 to $60 a ton. The exclusive Alicante Bouschet are still remaining at the top of the ladder with $110 in front of them for the ton.

RANGER ACCUSES DEER HUNTERS OF FIRING FORESTS

State Official Says Timber in Santa Cruz Range Was Deliberately Burned.

SAN JOSE, Sept. 4.—Charges that hunters deliberately set fire to the forests of the Santa Cruz mountain range west of here during the past week in order to facilitate deer hunting next season, were made here today by Chief Fire Ranger A. H. Oswald of state fire district No. 10.

The fire ranger's charges were based, he said, upon an investigation of all three fires which have been burning more or less extensively in the Loma Prieta district for the past week.

"There is a certain class of hunter who thinks absolutely nothing of going to any extreme whatever in order to facilitate his bagging game. We believe that these men, finding the chaparral almost impenetrable, deliberately fired these sections in order that they may have easy hunting next year."

A new fire was reported to have broken out in the Little Uvas canyon yesterday, but was under control this morning, according to Fire Warden V. V. Hammond, in charge of the fire fighters there.

Wilson, to be used in conjunction with one already installed on another mountain peak, the investigation may be resumed some time next year.

If you see it in The TRIBUNE tell them so.

HAYWARD

COST OF LIGHTS TOLD AT MEET
ALL HAYWARD TAKES HOLIDAY

HAYWARD, Sept. 4.—Cost of maintenance of the proposed electric street lighting system of Haywards will be made public for the first time tonight at a meeting of representatives of the Pacific Gas and Electric company with the Hayward Merchants Boosters club, at which the entire cost of the project will be reviewed.

It was estimated, recently, by L. R. Rosenberg, president of the Boosters club, that the proposed system would cost approximately $200 to maintain.

The Boosters club will probably again carry the proposal to the board of trustees of the city meeting Wednesday evening. The club originally proposed that the entire business district of Haywards and all Castro street be lit by electric lights, and that the system be gradually extended throughout the residential districts.

Following a conference with R. A. Kolze, chairman of the city board of trustees, it was decided to limit the first unit of the proposed system to the main business district of the city, including Castro, B. A. C. and Main. The Boosters have already circulated a petition by which property owners in this district have agreed to pay one-half the cost of installation of the system.

The Pacific Gas and Electric company would pay the additional cost of installation, and the city the cost of maintenance. Total cost of installation of the first unit is estimated at $12,000.

Farm Bureau Heads Postpone Meeting
HAYWARD, Sept. 4.—A meeting of the board of directors of the Alameda County Farm Bureau, originally planned to be held in Livermore, September 9, will not be held until September 16, it was announced today by Russell T. Robinson, county agricultural agent. Outline of a complete program of work for the fall will be the main work of the board at the meeting.

Definite action on the proposed horticultural department of the farm bureau is expected at this meeting. A nucleus of from 15 to 20 of the larger orchardists will probably form the early organization of the department. The plan is being well accepted by horticulturalists of the county generally.

Santa Cruz Scouts Go On Camping Trip
SANTA CRUZ, Sept. 4.—The Congregational Boy Scouts went to the Buchanan ranch, the highest point in the Ben Lomond range of mountains, for a four days' camp in charge of their scoutmaster, Karl Koch.

HAYWARD, Sept. 4.—Today was play day for Haywards. Labor Day has always been, among merchants here, a holiday by common consent, but this year, through the Hayward Merchants Boosters club and kindred organizations, it was officially agreed that the day should be observed.

Citizens of the town took advantage of the opportunity to grasp the last vanishing summer, before the coming of the fall and Indian summer. Today hundreds of Haywardsites motored through Dublin, Crow and Cull canyons, over the Skyline boulevard, Panoramic Way, the Foothill boulevard, along the old El Camino Real, among the Mission hills, and through Niles canyon.

By agreement of the Boosters Saturday, Admission Day will not be observed as a holiday.

Band Organized by Hayward High School
HAYWARD, Sept. 4.—Organization of a cadet band has been completed, it was announced by Frederick Johnson, principal, today. The band is now composed of 29 pieces, but will be enlarged as the organization is perfected.

The band is under the direction of J. E. Hollingshead, director of the Hayward Grammar school band and a member of the Hayward Grammar school faculty.

The high school band has been created in connection with the United States R. O. T. C. School, and cadet credits are being given members of the band. The band is regarded generally as one of the best features of recent years at the school.

It will add to the school life and provide greater possibilities for the study of music in the school, and will aid in furthering school spirit, according to its supporters.

Girls' Drum Corps Has 25 Members
HAYWARD, Sept. 4.—Hayward now has what is probably the largest girls' drum corps in the state. The corps, which started just before the Eden Township Farm Products show with five members, has added twenty to its list and has secured the aid of a director, Thomas Dias.

The corps, according to Dias, contains some very promising material. It is probable that drill and concert entertainments will be arranged by the girls for the fall season.

'OAKLAND DAY' AT STATE FAIR TO DRAW THROU

Several Hundred Business Men Plan Participation in Alameda County Work.

EXPOSITION GROUNDS, Sacramento, Sept. 4.—Several hundred Oakland business men are expected here this week, to help "put over" Alameda county's claim as one of the leading counties of the State. Their visit will be timed to coincide with Oakland Day at the State Fair, which has been set for next Saturday.

Ideal weather conditions, together with the attractions offered by the fair itself, have combined to bring a huge crowd of persons from all parts of the State to this year's exposition. Countless automobiles have brought a large portion of the visitors to the fair grounds.

Today was Commercial Secretaries' Day, and also "Amador County Day," while Chamber of Commerce representatives from all parts of the State met at a noon luncheon.

One of the exhibits that is attracting particular attention is that showing the progress made in the State during the last generation. In the education building, also, is being held daily a clinic of special interest to mothers.

Williams Knocks 33rd, Tying Walker
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 4.—Ken Williams of the Browns hit a home run off Lindsay of the Indians in the last half of the seventh inning of the St. Louis-Cleveland game here this afternoon, tying him for the American League season's home run record with Walker of the Athletics. Each has 33 home runs to his credit. Roger Hornsby, in the National league, has made 34 homers this year.

Young Hunter Slain in Shotgun Mishap
SALINAS, Sept. 4.—Leslie George, 20 son of James George of Salinas, accidentally was killed here yesterday while hunting near here. He was entering an automobile and was holding a shotgun behind him barrel foremost when the weapon in some manner was discharged. The charge struck him in the back of the head. James Cassidy of Vallejo, a cousin, was with the youth.

Contra Costa Day Is School Holiday
MARTINEZ, Sept. 4.—Declaring that the state fair is educational as well as entertaining, Superintendent of Schools, William H. Hanlon has notified all school boards that they may declare Wednesday, Contra Costa Day at the fair, a school holiday. Many of the schools will be closed, it has been announced.

Giants Cinch To Win Flag, Thinks Ruth

New York Yankees Are Glad to See National Race Almost Over.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—To all intents and purposes the National League race is "in" except in the event of a complete breakdown by McGraw's pitching staff the Giants are the favorites to win the pennant and represent the senior major circuit in the coming world's series. Babe Ruth, who has smashed all opposition and the schedule for the remainder of the season, which keeps them at home, while the Cards, the Pirates and the Cubs are playing on foreign fields in all their favor.

Only a miracle can stop the Giants now and even a miracle requires good pitching to make it effective. This is a commodity which none of the Giants' rivals possess to any appreciable extent, so I feel pretty safe in venturing the prediction that there will be no miracles worked this year to the benefit of the Cubs, the Cards or the Pirates and the detriment of the Giants. It looks to me that the Giants would have their pennant clinched by the 20th of September.

And this despite the fact that they lost Phil Douglas at a time when seemingly they were most in need of a pitcher of his proven ability. Indeed, they have played better ball, faster, harder and more aggressive ball, since he was "given the air" than at almost any other time all season. His passing time and what is perhaps even more important, his pitching staff is showing better results as the end of the race approaches than during any of the preceding stages of the pennant pursuit.

DEPEND ON PITCHERS. As matters stand now, Manager Miller Huggins has at least two pitchers in Bullen Joe Bush and Edd Rube Foster who can be depended upon to hold the fire in check practically every time out, and three others in Carl Mays, Sam Jones and Waite Hoyt, who have been showing to increasing advantage in every recent start. The means, of course, that the Yankees will be very strong defensively throughout the remainder of the season, stronger, I believe, than the Browns, with Urban Shocker as the only real pitching ace, can possibly hope to.

To my way of thinking, the Yankees have to keep on their toes to win something to space. Of course they play most of their remaining games at home, but the chances are that this will make little or no difference in the final result. When the Yankees have their heads up and are fighting it doesn't matter a particle to me whether they are playing at the Polo Grounds or, say, at Sportsman's Park, St. Louis.

HAVE SUCCESS IN WEST. That they will continue to hustle goes without saying. They know that there is a pennant to be won for the winning and may be depended upon to press every advantage. They won eleven out of fifteen games the last time they were in the west and expect to win the same proportion of the games they will play at Chicago, St. Louis, Detroit and Cleveland on their last swing around the Corn Belt loop.

They want to win and expect to win and it is my unhappy chance they fail to win it will not be for lack of trying. (Copyright 1922 by The Christy Walsh Syndicate.)

Play in Rain At Brookline Is Continuing

Competition For American Golfer Trophy Yesterday Ends in Tie.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 4.—Team play for the American Golfer trophy—an annual competition in which many of the contestants in the national amateur golf championship tournament engaged yesterday—ended in a tie. A best ball of 69 was scored by Jesse Sweetser and J. G. Anderson, for the Swaney Country Club, Mount Vernon, N. Y., and by W. W. Beskie and E. E. Dyer, representing the upper Mount Clair (N. J.) Country club. They will play off later on a neutral course held now under the auspices of the club, which was won at St. Louis last year by Jesse P. Guilford and Francis Quinlan of Woodland. The latter did not compete yesterday.

This foursome play was indulged in by nearly one-half the players who are pursuing championship hopes. It developed individual performances over half the 18-hole route better than any turned in yesterday. Sweetser, for instance, going out in 34 and Sweetser completing his team's card with a 34 on the return. To the players generally this was a further indication that the resumption tomorrow of the medal play for qualification in which today was an interlude between sessions of 18 holes each, would be marked by improved scores.

The mark of 71 made by Robert A. Gardner, of Chicago, former champion, in heading the qualifiers yesterday, was considered in danger. This score was said today to be an amateur competitor's record for the course, but with the new range and touch shown by several players it was well within their striking work.

Should it be equalled or bettered in the last 18 holes tomorrow, a new record for low qualification score in national amateur championships would be made. The present low is 144, with which Quinlan won medal honors last year.

Because of the conditions the tournament committee instructed contestants that they might clean the mud from balls on the putting greens. They were allowed also to lift from embedded lies on the greens. The privilege was not extended to the fairways.

Bernard Darwin of the British golf team, James C. Standish of Detroit, his playing companion, and Richard Hickey of Atlanta, withdrew from play during a downpour today. There was some sharp shooting over the rain-soaked course by Tolley and White. Each went half way in 38. J. J. Beattie of Philadelphia, one of Saturday's first ten, took 42.

J. A. Kennedy of Tulsa, Okla., turned in a 39. C. R. Maxwell of Trenton, N. J., took 43.

Molla Scores Victory Over Helen Wills

CLAREMONT, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Mrs. Molla Blesb, national tennis champion, yesterday defeated Miss Helen Wills of Berkeley, Calif., in a hard-fought three-set match, 3-6, 6-1, 6-3, in the final round of the Rockaway Hunting club's invitation tournament. It was the second time in a few weeks that the Pacific coast girl star forced Mrs. Molla to extra sets to win.

Miss Wills paired with Miss Leslie Bancroft of West Newton, Mass., was victorious in the double final, defeating Mrs. Molla and Miss Phyllis Walsh of Philadelphia in straight sets, 6-1, 6-0.

Miss Wills battled courageously against Mrs. Molla in the singles final, but after a hard-fought first set, she was unable to match the champion's superior court covering and more powerful drives.

Her initial triumph, however, was clear-cut. She broke through the Norwester's service twice to gain a lead of 3-1 in games. Thereafter each won on service until Miss Wills took the ninth game, 4-2, and the set, 3-2.

Mrs. Molla overwhelmed her youthful rival in the second set. She lost the second game, which went to deuce, and then ran out the set, taking three love games altogether. Miss Wills rallied in the final set and after dropping four out of the first five games took two in a row, but the champion speeded up her play and ran out the next two love games.

Miss Wills scored 32 earned points to 23 for Mrs. Molla, but forfeited her chances for victory on errors, making a total of 66 to 35 for her opponent.

ST. MARY'S HIGH HAS RECORD ENTRY IN TRIBUNE MARATHON

BOB McALLISTER CLAIMS THAT BENNY VIERRA WILL BE MUCH TOO FAST FOR JIMMY DUNDEE

NEARLY 300 ENTER FOR TENTH ANNUAL TRIBUNE MARATHON

St. Mary's High Sends in 112 and Alameda High School Lists Team of 60 Runners.

By DOUG MONTELL

In the ten years that The TRIBUNE has been conducting the Lake Merritt Marathon we have seen some big surprises in last minute rushes from organizations in filling entries, but all records went by the boards Saturday night when the entries closed for the Tenth Annual TRIBUNE Lake Merritt Marathon. One surprise followed closely on the heels of the other and we had no sooner composed ourselves after the shock receiving a batch of sixty (60) entries from Otto Rittler's Alameda high school team than Graduate Manager Louis Le Fevre, moderator of athletics for St. Mary's high school, appeared on the scene and deposited a block of 112 entry blanks for the St. Mary's preps. Before these two bunches of entries the list had passed the mark of last year but all previous records were scattered to the four winds with such an overwhelming entry.

At present writing the entry list numbers 295, exactly 195 more than the largest number to ever sign blanks for a Lake Merritt race. Up until this year the 1917 race held the record, when there were 180 signed for the twice around the lake grind. This year, with the distance cut in half of the 295 who have already signed there should be more than 250 finish within the time limit of half an hour, which will shatter more records.

Huge Task Will Confront Doctors
In view of what has just happened with St. Mary's Preps and Alameda high filling their entries on Saturday night there is still a possibility that there are many more entries still in the mail which will arrive late today from San Francisco and other out of the county organizations who have been waiting as were Alameda and St. Mary's for the closing date to arrive before filing their lists.

The morning of September 9 will see four of Oakland's doctors headed by the veteran medical examiner of previous Merritt Marathons Dr. John Parves, the busiest they have ever been while performing their duties of examining the athletes. It will necessitate an early start of the work of examining the athletes and organizations having teams entered are urged to make a note of the fact that all men must be examined that morning and that as many as possible should arrange to be at the Oakland Y. M. C. A. at an early hour 8 o'clock if possible in order to avoid congestion at the last minute.

Alameda High Team In Excellent Shape

The showing of Alameda high school while it occasioned surprise was not unlooked for by many. Comment has been made upon the fact that six Alameda runners entered early and that no others followed and runners of the Oakland schools feared a last-minute rush, but did not anticipate a group of sixty entering at the last minute.

Last year Alameda had a team of 12 runners in the race and all made a strong showing. In 1920 and 1919 Alameda was not strongly represented, but in the 1918 Marathon the boys of the Encinal high school had a team of 31 runners and the race of 1917 saw 44 Alameda high boys on the mark at the start.

St. Mary's Preps Lead All Schools

The entry of the St. Mary's Preps into the race was an unlooked-for development. When Graduate Manager Louis Le Fevre of St. Mary's College saw he had a strong team in the race many imagined that Madigan would turn his football squad loose in the race for training and condition, but grid work started earlier than expected. Le Fevre kept quiet about the possibility of the high school department.

entering and his silence allowed him to work in organizing a formidable team with no one knowing what was going on.

It appears as though the St. Mary's Preps have both the prize for the Alameda county high schools having the largest number of starters and the team prize for the organization having the largest number to finish in the 30-minute time limit about reached. Alameda may give the Preps a race in the contest for the latter prize for Otto Rittler is noted for having all his men in condition before allowing them to enter a race and practically all of the 60 from Alameda will cross the line in the time limit. Little is known of the ability of the St. Mary's Preps but if they have the same amount of enthusiasm in running the race that they displayed in entering they will walk in a winner.

Entry List of Alameda High

The complete list of the Alameda high school entries follows: Will Low, Herbert Moore, Ed Cooper, George Rittler, Andrew Holm, Tobias Segundo, Robert Rutherford, Jack Dier, Mervin Wall Stanton, David Billy Cundall, McKay Shad, Le Roy Clark, Frank Peule, Leon Konigshefer, Jack Dettmer, Walter Anderson, James McKenzie, Kenneth Fulton, Linton Lundy, Handberg, Crandall, Allan Hyde, Earle Kenny, Leslie Lack, Joe Good-year, Merritt Sanford, Allan Hunter, Philip Pyke, John Oliver, Frank Applebaum, Keith Otzen, Charles Groden, Donald Provines, Ernest Boott, Julius Konigshefer.

Australian Net Team Has Slim Chance

They Must Win Both Singles Matches From American Stars.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—The two singles matches scheduled for this afternoon in the Davis cup competition were postponed because of rain. Julian S. Myrick, president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, announced shortly before noon that the matches will be played tomorrow.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Australia goes into the final matches of the Davis cup challenge round on the tennis courts of the Forest Hills club today with a fighting chance for victory, a chance which they can only make good by sweeping the two singles matches with America's foremost racket slayers.

Gerald L. Patterson, Australian captain, will meet William M. Johnston in the first match at 2:30 o'clock, while James C. Anderson will oppose William T. Tilden in the second encounter. Victory in either event for the United States, which already has won both previous singles matches, while the Australians will lose the trophy.

An interesting addition to the Davis cup program today was an exhibition mixed doubles match in which Miss Helen Wills and Vincent Richards, youthful stars, were scheduled to play Mrs. Molla Bury-stead, Mallory, national women's champion, and Pat O'Hara Wood, crack Australian doubles player.

A recapitulation of the point scores of the three Davis cup matches played so far reveals that the advantage held by the United States is due largely to their forcing tactics. The table follows:

Team—Act Pts Opts Nets Df United States 20 57 67 80 Australia 20 78 88 101 22 Team—Mchs Sets Games Pts United States 2 6 48 291 Australia 1 1 2 27

BART BURKE TAKES TRIP.

VALLEJO, Sept. 4.—Bart Burke, coach for the Marine baseball nine last season, left last night for a camping trip in the northern part of the state. Other members of the party were Brad Perry and Gerard Hatheway.

Grant, John Illia, Matt Maroney. In addition to these the last-minute list included the Oakland Y. M. C. A. team of Jess Gooch, Glen Bratsburg, Ernie Stange, Charles Klein, Henry Goldstein, Archie Ruffaker and George Spencer.

Two more runners of the Eastbay Enameling Company entered—Mike Umbraco and L. E. Guidici.

Bob McAllister, manager of Benny Vierra can see nothing but a victory for his protegee when Benny meets Jimmy Dundee at the Auditorium Wednesday night. Bob declares Benny has it on Jimmy in the matter of speed and claims his man can hit just as hard as Dundee. According to McAllister's manner of figuring Dundee wins all his bouts on his speed and he has never met as fast a boxer as Vierra.

The Dundee adherents believe their man is faster than Vierra and they look for him to make Benny dizzy with his arching tactics. It's a toss-up on the speed question.

Battling Henry Ortega gets some wonderful managers. The last one he had sent lengthy wires to the papers telling how the battler was winning all his fights although the newspaper accounts stated Ortega was getting licked regularly. But has a new manager now and here is his first telegram.

Battling Ortega with his old time form gave Joe Egan an artistic looking six rounds win, the referee's decision was hoisted for many minutes. Ortega proved he is still among the top-notch middleweights of the country."

Mr. Associated Press saw the fight from a different angle. He said:

"Joe Egan, Boston middleweight won a six-round decision over Battling Ortega, Oakland, Cal., hammering the latter from pillar to post."

The other news service sent out like reports. Someday these managers will take a tumble to themselves. Hansen probably heard of the big houses here and wanted to ease the battler into a main event at the Auditorium.

All Frankie Egan and Joe Coffey have to do to get over big with the customers Wednesday night is to fight as they did last time out. That will be a ring classic.

Gunboat Smith wants to 'come-back' and he wants to do it at the Auditorium. In a letter to Frank Carter the Gunner says he is far from being 'through' and wants to know if Tommy Simpson would not like to use him. Tommy thinks he can carry along without Gunner.

Willie Meehan has gone to Fort Worth to box Fred Fulton. This one is the complete and grand finale of the uttermost limit. They ought to stage it at a swimming resort.

Floyd Johnson, the young heavy weight discovered and developed by Alex Gregains is quite popular in New York and has been promised a match at Madison Square Garden in the near future. Tex Rickard would like to send Floyd against Bob Roper or Fred Fulton.

Tod Morgan, the Vallejo favorite has gone to the mountains for a rest. A month in the hills should put Tod right. He had too many fights.

Attempt to Swim Channel Failure

DOVER, Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Charles Toth of Boston, who started Saturday evening in an attempt to swim the English channel from Dover to the French shore, had to give up early yesterday morning, after having been in the water for 11 hours and 10 minutes.

Toth was taken from the water shortly before 6 o'clock at a point miles off the English coast. Toth and Sam Richards, also of Boston, started out Saturday morning to endeavor to accomplish a task that has been deemed successfully by only two men—Captain Matthew Webb and T. W. Burgess both Englishmen. Richards collapsed at the end of two hours and had to be taken from the water. Toth had come to within approximately six miles of the French coast.

Neither Toth nor Richards will attempt again this season to swim the channel. Harry Sullivan of Lowell, Mass., and Walter Patterson of Bridgeport, Conn., however, will essay the feat. Sullivan is likely to take to the water at any hour.

Pole Vault Record Broken By Norwegian

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 4.—The world's record for the pole vault was broken in the Copenhagen stadium yesterday by Hoff, the Norwegian athlete who cleared the bar for four meters, twelve centimeters, or approximately 13 feet 6 inches. The record was made at Antwerp by C. K. Fosberg, an American, who vaulted four meters, 9 centimeters, or 13 feet 5 inches.

MARINE ELEVEN STRONG.

VALLEJO, Sept. 4.—The Marines by their defeat of the Camden football eleven here on Saturday by a score of 17 to 7 showed that they are one of the best aggregations in this part of the state. The sea soldiers will meet a number of the bay city teams before the season comes to a close.

Mountain View Hi to Have Strong Eleven

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Sept. 4.—Mountain View High will have one of the strongest prep elevens in this part of the state this coming football season according to W. E. Hester, principal. Palo Alto and San Jose, their old rivals will have to keep close tabs on their laurels, for with such coaches as Floyd Hunter who coached Mountain View to championship in the Peninsula League last year, and O. M. Akey, former University of Ohio star, Mountain View is again slated to step into the lead.

KESSLERS WIN ON FORFEIT.
The game booked between Kessler's Army Store and Spruce Camp W. O. W. at Bushrod playground Sunday was forfeited to Kessler's Army Store 9 to 0, when the Spruce Camp players failed to put in an appearance.

PLAN FOOTBALL GAME.
VALLEJO, Sept. 4.—A football game is to be arranged with the Tamkips High school team by Vallejo High during the month of October. The teams will probably play at the local high school gridiron.

GIRLS' SCREAMS FAIL TO REPEL DARING BURGLAR

Intruder Calmly Ransacks
House When Occupants
Give Alarm.

An audacious burglar who is immune to the screams and calls for help projected lustily from the throats of three young women and who only departed when five policemen dashed to the rescue, is being sought by the Oakland police.

Another burglar is today in the city prison, because Mrs. Fred Coups had the presence of mind not to make an outcry when she awoke and saw a burglar standing over her bed.

Burglar Number One who the police say must be a married man in view of the sans froid displayed by him in a trying situation entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kerrigan at 5177 Shafter avenue shortly after midnight this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Kerrigan were away for the week-end, but their 18-year-old daughter, Hazel, was in the house with two of her friends, Miss Louise Rossi and Miss Helen Nice.

The girls talked till midnight and then went to bed. Hazel had the light on when Miss Kerrigan heard a noise. Said she: "There's somebody in the house." On tip-toe she stole out of the room her two friends following her.

RANSACKED HOUSE.

Through a glass door they saw the shadow of a man who was calmly ransacking the place. The young women ran back to their room and promptly commenced screaming at the top of their voices. This any well-brought-up burglar knows, is the signal for him to leave the premises.

But somehow the burglar was different. He went ahead without paying the slightest attention. Then the girls telephoned police headquarters "at as five officers dashed up to the house in an automobile, the burglar was seen to jump from a window and make his escape.

Burglar Number Two was no so fortunate. In his case Mrs. Coups was awakened from a sound sleep to discover a man standing at the edge of the bed looking at her husband. He had some kind of an instrument in his hand. Mrs. Coups kept quiet and pretended that she was asleep.

When the burglar walked into the kitchen she quietly slipped from the bed and crawled over to the bureau where she obtained her revolver. She then crawled back to the bed and awakened her husband.

CAUGHT BY HUSBAND

She handed him the revolver, telling him that there was a burglar in the kitchen. Armed with the revolver the husband surprised him. He ordered him to throw up his hands.

While Mrs. Coups was telephoning for the police she saw another man run down the back steps and climb over the back fence. He was carrying a suit case. It contained clothing which belonged to the couple.

The prisoner told the arresting officers that his name was Frank Pendegast and that he lived at 189 Jean street. He said that his pal's name was "Slim." He claimed that he did not know his last name or where he lived. He said that he met him earlier in the evening for the first time.

Pendegast is held in the city prison for investigation. A charge of burglary will be placed against him tomorrow, according to Captain of Inspectors Walter J. Peterson.

Spanish Program To Be Held by Club

The subjects covered by the papers will not be announced until the evening session. The program will be given by the club in pursuance of its policy to cover not only the spoken but also the written Spanish language. C. H. Biells is president of the club.

The meetings of the club are held every Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Alden Library, 52nd street and Telegraph avenue, Oakland. All persons interested in the study of the Spanish language and customs are invited to attend.

Actress Sails for Orient

ADELE BLOOD, who, with her company, sailed through the Golden Gate today for a theatrical tour of the Far East

Adele Blood, Company, Sail From S. F. for Orient Tour

"Stage star and expert in foreign exchange" is the double title which Miss Adele Blood, former Eastbay stage favorite, expects to have achieved by the time she returns from the Oriental trip on which she started out of San Francisco bay today on the steamer President.

In order to figure on the receipts of each performance which she and her company will give in the Orient, Miss Blood, who is acting as treasurer of the company, will have to translate ten Mexican dollars pesos, rupees, annas and Straits dollars into American dollars and cents. All because the company's itinerary includes such places as Kobe, Yokohama, Tokyo, Shanghai, Hongkong, Canton, Penang, Manila, Calcutta, Bombay, Madras and Singapore.

Worst of all according to Miss Blood as soon as she has mastered the intricacies of Oriental currency she will have to begin all over again by calculating the American dollar value of tons upon tons of Russian roubles in which cat fare assumes such bulk that it is said to crowd out a street car passenger each time a fare is paid.

The job is too much for me alone," Miss Blood said today before departure of the President.

Several members of the company have consented to help me out and it is probable that before the trip is over, each one of them will have become an expert in a different set of Oriental currency. But it will be a wonderful thing for actors to have a chance of handling as much money as we will get in Russia—even if it doesn't mean anything.

The itinerary of the company will take them into Manila by Christmas. Their repertoire includes a number of Broadway successes such as "Kempy," "Enter Christy," "Cat and Canary," "Enter Madam," "Smilin' Through," "Gold Diggers," and "Gold Fish."
